BATTLE AGAINST SMOG MAN'S BIGGEST JOB?

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Stopping the spread of smog may be mankind's most important task in the 20th century, says Walter Orr Roberts, director of the new United States national centre for atmospheric research being built near Boulder, Colo.

"In the years not too far ahead, we may exercise wilful control of genetic makeup," Roberts told the 31st international meeting of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists Monday.

"We may be able to stamp out disease, or to create it—to make man a better adapted creature of his environment, or a robot."

But, Roberts said, it is a serious question whether the world's population, expected to double by the year 2000, will have enough water to drink or air to breathe.

"If we cannot find a way to control smog," he added, "it may well be a limit on the expansion of civilization."

About 1,200 are attending the conference, which continues through Thursday.

Red Unity Toasted By Chinese

PEKING (Reuters)—Premier Chou En-lai and other Communist Chinese leaders tonight joined Soviet Ambassador S. V. Chervonenko in toasts to the unity of the Communist camp and Sino-Russian friendship.

The toasts were offered at a reception marking the Soviet Revolution anniversary given by Chervonenko, who Monday night was received in stony silence by Chinese officials when he attacked Stalinism and Albanian Communists.

Chinese and Soviet officials and foreign diplomats—including Albanians—clinked glasses during the two-hour reception.

APPEAL FOR UNITY

Earlier, newspapers marked the anniversary by printing appeals for unity of the whole Communist camp, including Albania. The appeals were in messages and editorials of Peking newspapers.

The messages from Chinese leaders and an article reproduced from The People's Daily praised the advances made by the Soviet Union since the revolution, paid tribute to its leadership in the Communist camp, and stressed the need to maintain unity.

The newspapers also reported Monday night's meeting here at which Chinese leaders and Communist party officials sat silent, neither smiling nor applauding, as Soviet Ambassador S. V. Chervonenko repeated the attacks made at last month's Moscow party congress by Soviet Premier Khrushchev on the cult of personality, Stalinism and the Albanian Communist party leaders.

JFK, Nehru In Long Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Nehru of India discussed major world topics, including the Berlin crisis and the problem of nuclear test controls and disarmament, in a 2½-hour talk today.

After the White House meeting, presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger announced that another session would be held here Wednesday.

ADENAUER

Adenauer Wins Slim Majority

BONN (Reuters)—Konrad Adenauer was re-elected today to a fourth term as chancellor by the West German Bundestag (lower house).

The 85-year-old statesman received 258 votes—eight more than necessary for an absolute majority in the 499-member house.

There were 206 votes against Adenauer—15 more votes than the total held by the Social Democrats, the only opposition party to the new coalition government of Adenauer's Christian Democrats and the minority Free Democrats.

Twenty-six members abstained. A further nine members of all three parties were absent.

LOUD APPLAUSE

The announcement of Adenauer's re-election two months before his 86th birthday brought loud applause in the house.

Asked by Speaker Eugen Gerstenmaier whether he accepted the chancellorship, Adenauer replied in a firm voice: "I accept the vote."

Adenauer's re-election came after six weeks' negotiations with the Free Democrats made necessary by his party's loss of its long-held majority in the Bundestag in the Sept. 17 elections.

The Christian Democrats won 242 seats compared with 190 by the Social Democrats. The Free Democrats picked up 67 and held the balance of power.

Earlier today Adenauer smoothed out wrinkles in the coalition agreement despite a resignation threat from his heir-apparent, Economic Minister Ludwig Erhard.

'3 Million Might Be Killed'

WASHINGTON (CP)—A nuclear attack launched against Canada at night with only 15 minutes warning might kill or injure about one-half the major Canadian urban population, the United States Association of Military Surgeons was told today.

LL-Col. A. C. Hardman, chief of Canada's emergency health services, based his estimate on a potential target in Canada of 12 major cities containing about 7,100,000 people.

Of these, under the current state of civilian preparedness, "we can expect between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 to be killed and some 1,250,000 to be injured with a high proportion of these trapped in rubble."

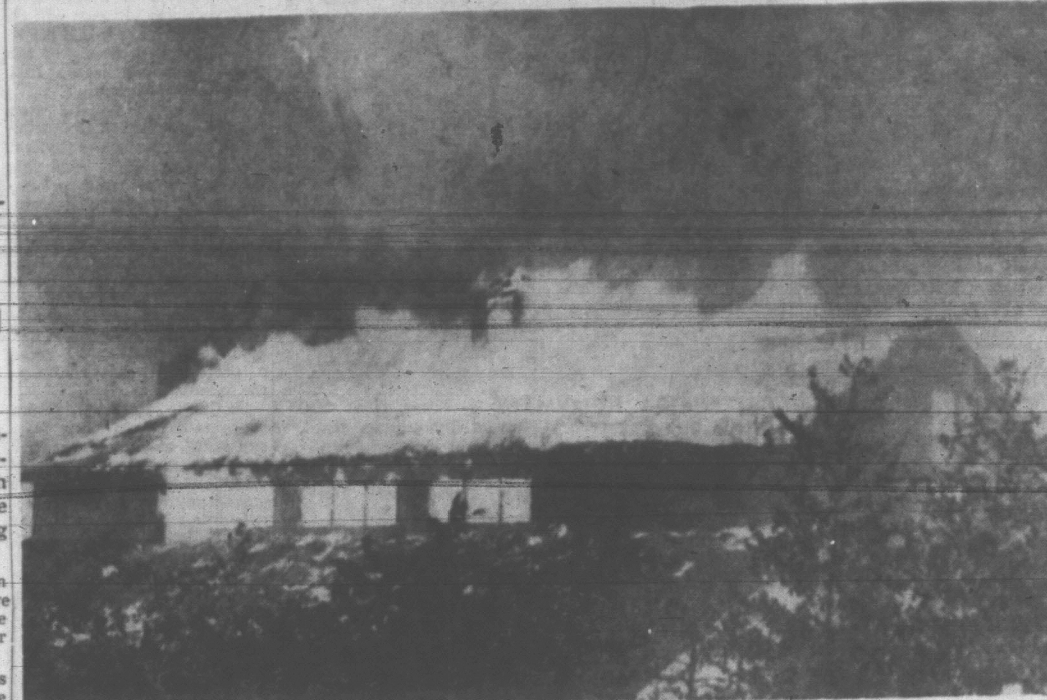

Urging a strong bond of partnership between civilian and military agencies for medical care in the event of an emergency, Hardman suggested "with the present state of international tension, the possibility of global war is very real."

Fortunately for Canada, he said, "our government tends to select the remote and barren wastes for the location of the majority of their military bases. Consequently the bulk of our regular forces would be expected to survive as an intact organization."

Mission Fails

KARACHI (AP)—Special United States Envoy Livingston Merchant flew home today, his mission to get Pakistan and Afghanistan together apparently a failure.

Los Angeles Fires Rage Loss Hits $15 Million

WIND-DRIVEN flames roar through private school building in Los Angeles Bel-Air section. Roof of school is tremendous sea of flames as it succumbs to fury of area's worst brush fire disaster. Children had been evacuated. More than 200 homes have been destroyed. (AP Wirephoto.)

Holocaust Threatens New Area

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two disastrous brush fires threatened today to join and burn oceanward on a 10-mile front that officials said would threaten a whole new community—fashionable Pacific Palisades.

The major multi-million-dollar blaze—the worst in southern California history—already had destroyed more than 200 costly homes including those of several members of the movie colony.

Former vice-president Richard Nixon was among those who fled Monday.

A spokesman said the total value of ruined or damaged real estate alone could exceed $15,000,000.

This fire raged out of control today like an ugly, flaming crown in the Hollywood Hills-Santa Monica Mountains range above swank Bel-Air and Brentwood.

WIRE BRIEFS

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban authorities claimed today the breakup of a major underground movement and accused the Venezuelan and Italian embassies of actively helping insurgents try to overthrow Premier Castro's regime.

Congo Whites Strike

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—The Congolese government today sent investigators to the terrorized provincial town of Luluabourg where the entire European population is reported on strike fearing new outbreaks of anti-white rioting.

Strike Seen Fizzle

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A three-day general strike called by Argentina's powerful central labor confederation to start today appeared to fizzle. However, violence was reported throughout the country.

Finns Send Envoy

HELSINKI (AP)—The Finnish government announced today it is sending Foreign Minister Ahti Karjalainen to Moscow for preliminary contacts on a Soviet note calling for joint defence measures against what the Kremlin called mounting military threat from West Germany and its NATO allies.

Queen Will Be Safe U.K. Official Finds

ACCRA (Reuters)—Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys, reported by reliable sources, to be ready to recommend that Queen Elizabeth go ahead with her projected 11-day visit to internally troubled Ghana Thursday, left by plane today for London.

The British minister had made a pre-royal visit inspection tour here. Sandys and President Kwame Nkrumah covered the route planned for the Queen.

They also inspected a statue of Nkrumah damaged in a weekend bomb blast.

Nkrumah today showed Sandys a life-size statue of the Ghana president, the feet of which were damaged in a bomb blast Saturday, and commented: "It's a wonder it did not fall over."

(In London, meanwhile, Prime Minister Macmillan announced he will call his cabinet into session Wednesday to decide whether the Queen should go ahead with her visit. (Aides said Macmillan will drive to Buckingham Palace after the cabinet meeting to give his final advice to the Queen.)

(The decision will be announced to the Commons later in the day.)

taken the trouble to show me this."

Large crowds cheered wildly as Nkrumah and the Briton, in an open car flanked by police outriders, made a two-hour tour of the Queen's route.

TARGETS

(Some London newspapers commented that Sandys and Nkrumah, in touring Accra were deliberately setting themselves up as "targets for assassins."

(The influential Guardian said member countries of the Commonwealth should decide whether the Queen carries out the tour.)

(The Guardian points out that the Queen heads a Commonwealth that includes eight countries, among them Canada, which accept her as sovereign, and four republics, which accept her as symbolic head of the Commonwealth.)

(The decision on her trip "should come from a number of them.")

WALL DAMAGED

One bomb in Accra exploded at the Kwame Nkrumah Circle, named after Ghana's president, and slightly damaged a wall.

Four hours earlier a bomb went off in a bush near the national lotteries building and police reported that several unexploded time bombs were found nearby.

A full-scale manhunt was launched for the perpetrators and massive security measures have been stepped up for the Royal visit.

The measures have been rated as adequate by British officials here, most of whom believe there is no special danger in the visit despite the three explosions.

Revolt Ends In Ecuador

QUITO, Ecuador (CP)—A military uprising by an army engineers regiment objecting to the arrest of leftist Vice-President Carlos Julio Arosemena was beaten down by loyal government troops today in a seven-hour battle in the southern part of Quito.

Arosemena, who denounced President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra for violating the constitution, and nine legislators were arrested after bloody rioting against the government resulted in 11 persons killed and 14 injured.

Covers Big Area

Eating through Topanga Canyon's explosively dry brush during the night, a companion fire that also broke out Monday moved to within slightly more than a mile of the Bel-Air fire.

The Topanga fire had raged through 4,000 acres, the Bel-Air through 3,200. Only Rustic Canyon, which has a few expensive homes, separated the two.

Officials said the fires probably will join, forming a 10-mile flaming front. If they continue burning southward, all of heavily populated Pacific Palisades, near the ocean, would be in danger. The two fires already were only three or four miles from that community.

24 Bombers Used

"We are making full preparations for the worst," said Keith Klinger, county fire chief.

Men and equipment in large numbers moved into the southern end of the Topanga Canyon holocaust. Twenty-four bombers, 12 for each fire, were loaded for daylight bombing of the flames with a fire-retarding borate solution.

Minor injuries to 10 firemen in the Bel-Air fire were reported.

More than 2,000 persons had

W. Germany Drops Charge Against Slav

MUNICH (AP)—Charges of murdering Nazi soldiers in occupied Yugoslavia were dropped today against former partisan Lazo Vracaric. The West German government apologized for his arrest on a 1941 warrant.

Officials returned Vracaric's Yugoslav passport and told him the case against him has been wiped off the books. His arrest here last Tuesday while on a business trip had brought a wave of protests from officials and veterans' groups abroad, particularly from countries that were occupied by the Nazis.

Vracaric, 44, was released from jail Monday night. He refused to appear in person today, contending his wartime activities were no concern of German justice, and sent two lawyers in his stead.

The Nazi arrest order, which local officials in Konstanz dug up, charged that Vracaric and other partisans were involved in the 1941 ambush slaying of two German soldiers. Legal officials said investigation of the case proved Vracaric could not be charged with murder since he was a soldier in a regular army.

MARSHAL TWICE FIGHTS WAY INTO LIMELIGHT

Soviet Founder, Disgraced, Ignores Snubs

(Times News Services)
MOSCOW—Marshal Klement Voroshilov, disgraced former president of the Soviet Union, broke away from a security guard tonight and made his way to the head table at a reception marking the anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution.

Voroshilov, one of the founders of the Communist state in Russia, argued his way past security men barring the entrance to the head tables after being turned away earlier today from the Lenin mausoleum reviewing stand for the parade celebrating the anniversary.

The white-haired 80-year-old marshal, with two Orders of Lenin on a lapel of his double-breasted blue suit, brushed aside an embarrassed aide de camp who had apparently been appointed to keep an eye on him at the Kremlin reception.

The aide de camp, a young major, pursued the former president but failed to catch him before he reached Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan at the head table.

He then grabbed a glass of wine from a passing waiter and clinked glasses with Mikoyan and the Red Chinese ambassador.

Other members of the Communist party presidium also accepted toasts from the marshal.

Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov came up to exchange a few words with him but Premier Khrushchev was some distance away talking with other guests.

After a brief period in the area reserved for top guests, the young army major took Voroshilov firmly by the elbow and steered him out past the guards. The former president then took his place among the ordinary guests at the reception.

The marshal, who has been among those taking the salute from atop the tomb every year since the parades began, was denounced at the recent 22nd congress of the Soviet Communist party as a Stalinist.

He apologized for his sins and Premier Khrushchev said he forgave him. But forgive-

WASHINGTON—"This is no play for 16-year-olds," said the lady school principal after marching 146 teen-agers out of the National Theatre during the opening of "Sunday In New York."

For a few minutes, Monday night's mass walkout stole the scene from the Broadway-bound comedy.

Principal Margaret Walsh of Sayreville, N.J., who brought the youngsters to Washington on their senior class trip, told a reporter later "we just came out because it was the right thing to do."

The exodus came about 10 minutes before the curtain fell on the first act of the show, a comedy about sex.

"I had no idea what the play was like," Miss Walsh said later. "I thought it would be a nice evening. I had called the theatre and they knew it was a school group coming. I'm sorry."

The walkout signal came after a scene in which Pat Stanley and Robert Redford embrace and talk about sex—while the stage lights go down until the theatre is dark.

When the lights went on again, revealing Redford and Miss Stanley in bathrobes, the school children filed from the $1.75, second-balcony seats.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—The Credit Bureau of Greater Little Rock, Inc., apparently has an busy looking for dead beats it forgot to pay its own bills.

General manager John R. Nesbitt said "this is very embarrassing" Monday when county officials notified the company it failed to pay $284.63 in personal property taxes.

LONDON—The government struck a blow Monday for the emancipation of British women from the terrors of turnstiles that bar entry to Britain's comfort stations.

Dr. Charles Hill, minister of housing and local government, said the government will no longer approve applications by municipal councils for permission to raise loans to install turnstiles. He also is urging local authorities to remove existing turnstiles as soon as possible.

It was a major victory for the womanhood of Britain who, led by female legislators, had campaigned for freedom from the need to put a penny in a slot.

Dr. Hill made his remarks in a written reply to a parliamentary question by one of the campaigners, Dame Irene Ward.

CALGARY—A man who sold newspapers on Calgary streets for the last 32 years died Monday with nearly $9,500 in his pockets.

Phillip Bider, 64, collapsed and died from a heart attack while eating lunch in a downtown cafe. Police found the money when they searched his clothing.

Bider's lady had rented a small room and cooked his own meals.

"He didn't seem to have any money," she said. "All the clothes he had were on his back and they were very old and ragged."

BARNESLEY, England—A greyhound dog was sent to the Humane Society shelter here Monday because he chewed up all of his address ticket except the part that reads "Ba" while on a train.

Officials now are checking towns whose names begin Ba.

COLCHESTER, England—How many fives in 30? The dog barked six times.

How many shillings in a pound? Twenty, the dog replied.

Bingo, a canine with a head for figures, was put through his paces by a class of school children Monday and passed with 98 per cent success.

The 18-month-old retriever was brought to Gosbeck Primary School to show the kids what a how-wow he is at arithmetic.

For half an hour the children fired questions at him—50 additions, subtractions, divisions.

Each time Bingo barked back the answers.

"There's no trickery," said the dog's owner, Marcus la Touche. "He can count to 100."

"It's hard to believe," Headmaster Percy Palmer said. "But I watched closely. Bingo's intelligence appeared genuine enough."

Only once did Bingo miff it.

"What's four subtracted from four?" a little girl asked him.

Bingo barked four times.

HULL, Que.—It will soon be against the law to make night-time trips to outhouses in suburban South Hull with lights that aren't fireproof.

Council of the largely rural municipality Monday night approved a bylaw calling for a closed lantern or flashlight on such jaunts.

The bylaw also calls on householders to set up do-it-yourself fire departments in their homes—with ladders, hoses and other fire-fighting equipment.

Free Rides Proposed Voting Day

City Hall officials hope to establish a free bus loop on election day for convenience of elderly and foot-slogging voters.

Present proposal is to continue the single polling station system for the Dec. 14 civic election even though an ideal centrally-located hall can't be found.

City council Thursday will be asked to endorse a recommendation that the First United Church Hall, on Balmoral near Quadra, should be used as a polling station.

Arguments in its favor are: a large hall, separated from the church proper, reasonably close to the centre of town, with ample parking space for voters using cars.

For those without cars, city clerk Frank Hunter has suggested a bus be chartered to run a five-minute loop service from the steps of the City Hall to the polling station throughout the day.

"This would serve the people who have to come downtown by bus to vote," he said. "There would be no problem in getting to the City Hall from any route and we can take them from here for free to the polling station."

The plan appears to solve a continual headache of finding a central location for the vote since the old civic market building, on Cormorant, was demolished several years ago. The vacant Victoria Ballroom, at Government and Cormorant, was used a couple of years but it now is occupied and the city was forced to look for a hall off the beaten track.

More than 1,300 men fought the fire, which started Monday morning and raced across Bel-Air and surrounding suburbs, studded with palatial estates, $200-a-day hotels and exclusive golf courses. Another 2,000 reserves were assembled.

The blaze swept down dry, sunburnt slopes and overran luxurious homes.

There were no reports of death or serious injury. Governor Edmund Brown declared Los Angeles County a disaster area.

The city fire department said it counted more than 200 homes destroyed—many valued at more than $100,000 each. A public information officer for the department said the total "easily could go as high as 300."

But, he said, it is impossible to give a precise damage figure until the fire is out.

Stars Burned Out

Homes destroyed Monday included those of actor Burt Lancaster, comedian Joe E. Brown, producer Walter Wanger, actress Zsa Zsa Gabor, producer-director George Powell and CBS Vice-President Howard McElhan. Each cost more than $100,000.

Other homes threatened or damaged included those of Cary Grant, Red Skelton, Kim Novak, Maureen O'Hara, Fred

Opposition leaders said they decided to withdraw because "under the present political situation and government it is impossible to hold free elections in Portugal."

Under Portuguese law, all opposition candidates have to be approved by the government before they can run for office.

Russia Must Lift Threat—de Gaulle

Times News Service

BASTIA, Corsica—President de Gaulle said today France will not negotiate with the Russians on Berlin and Germany unless the Soviets withdraw their threats.

"We wish to be able to engage in true conversations and true negotiations on the great problems of the world," de Gaulle said in the Corsican capital, "but we do not accept these conversations, these negotiations, under threats."

"On condition that the threats disappear, that dictates are renounced, France will be the first to make proposals to solve all the problems of the globe, including in the first place that of Germany."

Beginning a whistle stop tour of this French island 110 miles southeast of the Riviera, France's president said his government has "to solve once and for all the Algerian problem" and "I believe I am able to tell you that the end is now in sight."

De Gaulle was speaking to more than 10,000 Corsicans in the market place here, despite fears for his safety prompted by a bomb attack on the home of the Gaullist mayor of Bastia Monday night.

De Gaulle said new Algerian peace talks could open "any day now" as long as neither side poses any preliminary conditions. "And we are not posing any conditions," he declared, but he reiterated what he considers the two possibilities open:

been evacuated from one of the richest residential areas in the U.S.

Coyotes and other wild animals scrambled along Beverly Glen Boulevard today from flames ravaging their native haunts.

Temperature at 85

The weather bureau forecast winds of 15 to 30 miles an hour to complicate the task of fire fighters. A peak temperature of 85 degrees and eight to 10 per cent humidity also were predicted for the day.

There were no reports of death or serious injury. Governor Edmund Brown declared Los Angeles County a disaster area.

The city fire department said it counted more than 200 homes destroyed — many valued at more than $100,000 each. A public information officer for the department said the total "easily could go as high as 300."

But, he said, it is impossible to give a precise damage figure until the fire is out.

Stars Burned Out

Homes destroyed Monday included those of actor Burt Lancaster, comedian Joe E. Brown, producer Walter Wanger, actress Zsa Zsa Gabor, producer-director George C. Scott and CBS Vice-President Howard McHugh. Each cost more than $100,000.

Other homes threatened or damaged included those of Cary Grant, Red Skelton, Kim Novak, Maureen O'Hara, Fred MacMurray, Alfred Hitchcock, Ginger Rogers, Marion Brando, Robert Stack, Steve Cochran, Bobby Darin and wife Sandra Lee, Greer Garson, Jascha Heifetz, Peggy Lee, Meredith Willson and Maxene and Laverne Andrews.

More than 1,300 men fought the fire, which started Monday morning and raced across Bel-Air and surrounding suburbs, studded with palatial estates, $200-a-day hotels and exclusive golf courses. Another 2,000 reserves were assembled.

The blaze swept down dry, sunburnt slopes and overran luxurious homes.

Salazar Foes Quit Election

LISBON (Reuters)—All opposition candidates were withdrawn today from the Portuguese national elections next Sunday, ensuring rubber-stamp approval for supporters of Portuguese strongman Oliveira Salazar.

Opposition leaders said they decided to withdraw because "under the present political situation and government it is impossible to hold free elections in Portugal."

Under Portuguese law, all opposition candidates have to be approved by the government before they can run for office.

Times News Service

BASTIA, Corsica—President de Gaulle said today France will not negotiate with the Russians on Berlin and Germany unless the Soviets withdraw their threats.

"We wish to be able to engage in true conversations and true negotiations on the great problems of the world," de Gaulle said in the Corsican capital, "but we do not accept these conversations, these negotiations, under threats."

"On condition that the threats disappear, that dictates are renounced, France will be the first to make proposals to solve all the problems of the globe, including in the first place that of Germany."

Beginning a whistle stop tour of this French island 110 miles southeast of the Riviera, France's president said his government has "to solve once and for all the Algerian problem" and "I believe I am able to tell you that the end is now in sight."

De Gaulle was speaking to more than 10,000 Corsicans in the market place here, despite fears for his safety prompted by a bomb attack on the home of the Gaullist mayor of Bastia Monday night.

De Gaulle said new Algerian peace talks could open "any day now" as long as neither side poses any preliminary conditions. "And we are not posing any conditions," he declared, but he reiterated what he considers the two possibilities open:

1. Self-determination for the North African territory with future ties with France, guarantees for Algeria's European minority and protection of French interests in the Sahara, or

2. Divisions of the country into separate French and Moslem regions, leaving the Moslems with "territories where there will be no future in the true sense."

Two rounds of talks to end the seven-year Algerian rebellion broke down last summer. The French and the rebels have since moved closer together on disputed points.

Modern group insurance has made it possible for thousands of Canadians to obtain low-cost life insurance protection they might not otherwise have—and this is important! But, it cannot and should not take the place of permanent personal life insurance—the type which you own and control.

Such permanent insurance policies will not only give your family immediate protection for the full amount, they will also have values, increasing year by year, which can be readily used as collateral for emergency loans or business purposes.

Permanent personal policies assure you of these benefits and most plans may provide a guaranteed monthly income on retirement.

A wide variety of life insurance coverage is available to meet your needs... we would suggest that you talk to The Excelsior Life representative in your community—he has been selected and trained to help you build your own "Blueprint for Security".

Kennedy Ticks Off Extremist Texan

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The Chattanooga Times has published what it says was part of President Kennedy's reply when Texas publisher E. M. (Ted) Dealey sharply castigated the president at a recent White House luncheon. Dealey, publisher of the Dallas Morning News, attended the luncheon Oct. 27 of 19 Texas publishers and editors with the president. Among the statements the publisher said he made to Kennedy were:

"We need a man on horseback to lead this nation and many people in Texas and the southwest think that you are riding Caroline's tricycle."

"The general opinion of the grass-roots thinking in this country is that you and your administration are weak sisters."

The Times, in a story by its Washington correspondent, Charles Bartlett, said: "There was no transcript of the luncheon . . . but the president's reply, a spontaneous expression of his basic philosophy, has been partially reconstructed from the recollections of some of those who were present."

The story said: "Dealey's interruption came suddenly toward the close of the meal and there was a dead silence after he finished his lengthy indictment. The president, challenged for the first time at his own table, began his reply in a low voice.

"He said that everyone was entitled to his own opinions in this country and that this was a healthy thing. But the difference between you and me, Dealey, Kennedy continued, 'is that I was elected president of this country and you were not. I have the responsibility for the lives of 180,000,000 Americans, which you have not.'"

The president told the publisher, The Times said, that "while he is president, he intends to be certain that the nation's vital interests and its security are at stake before he puts the lives of the people in jeopardy from a nuclear exchange."

"The president said he had observed that men tend to like the idea of war until they have tasted it but that they quickly get enough of it," the story continued, then quoted Kennedy as saying:

"Wars are easier to talk about than they are to fight. I'm just as tough as you are, Mr. Dealey, and I didn't get elected president by arriving at soft judgments."

The newspaper claimed one publisher of six southwestern U.S. dailies, G. C. Woodson, was quoted as saying after the outburst: "Ted, you're leading the worst fascist movement in the southwest and you don't realize that nobody else is with you."

Africans from a new nation may take special university and government courses in wildlife conservation.

He said three or four Africans probably will come here for training to help establish an all-African civil service after Tanganyika becomes an independent nation Dec. 9.

Deputy Police Chief J. A. Cavan said police will be on hand to prevent violence but will not interfere with any photography.

'We're Worried About ECM' Green Warns

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—External Affairs Minister Green said Monday enthusiasm by some sections of the Canadian public for Britain's European Common Market entry may hinder negotiations on resulting trade and political questions for the Commonwealth.

"It is a decision the British have a right to make themselves but we are very much worried about it both on the political and trade angle," he told a Progressive Conservative rally.

"We will do the best we can to work out some solution but this is an extremely serious problem for Canada and one which Canadians should look at very carefully."

Mr. Green said the nations already in the Common Market are drawing closer together politically. If Great Britain goes in she will not be able to "call the shots" or say what the policy of the unifying nations shall be.

He asked how this position would work out with Britain as leader of a Commonwealth free to take an independent stand on any issue.

He wondered how Britain would stand politically in unity with France which is "not interested in the United Nations very much."

HAS LARGE STAKE

Canada has $1,000,000,000 worth of trade at stake on the question.

"What would you think of a Canadian government which did not do everything it could to protect the interests of the Canadian people? Don't get too enthusiastic about the British entering the Common Market without thinking very seriously about it."

'Political, Strategic Overtones'

HUMBOLDT, Sask. (CP)—More than neutrality is required of the United States in the matter of Britain's possible entry into the European Common Market, Finance Minister Fleming said Monday.

He said entry of the Commonwealth by Britain would have far-reaching, serious effects on Canada's trade relations, but would have "political and strategic overtones of great significance."

The U.S. government, he said, which must soon obtain renewal of its reciprocal trade agreement legislation, will require broader, bolder and more forward-looking commercial policy.

He said the scope and character of the tariff negotiating authority obtained from Congress by the administration could well influence the course of history for years to come.

Mr. Fleming said Canada's stake in the Common Market was illustrated by last year's Canadian sales to the countries involved of $436,000,000 worth of goods, 40 per cent of this in agricultural products.

JINXED U.S. CARRIER HIT BY FIRE AGAIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new aircraft carrier Constellation was hit by fire on a trial run at sea Monday when fuel oil was accidentally sprayed from a pipe flange onto a 1,100-degree Fahrenheit steam line, the navy announced Monday night.

Four men died and nine were injured, three critically, in the fire which swept a machinery room.

East Dec. 19, while the Constellation was being built at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, fire broke out in a wooden construction aboard the ship, killing 50 persons and injuring several hundred.

That fire delayed completion of the Constellation by months and added about $47,000,000 to the original cost.

CAMPAIGN IN QUEBEC

National Unity Pearson Appeal

QUEBEC (CP)—The Liberal campaign in Quebec province for the next federal general election will be based on a broad appeal for national unity and promises of legislative and fiscal decentralization.

"We are inseparable," opposition leader Lester Pearson told an audience of 600.

His speech, aimed in part at the Quebec separatist movement and appealing to the moderates who want more sovereignty for the province without severing ties with the rest of Canada, was the keynote address of the first nominating convention in Quebec.

Maurice Lamontagne, 44, Mr. Pearson's personal economic advisor and a member of the cabinet secretariat of the former Liberal government, was nominated in the riding of Quebec East.

The Liberal leader, who spoke mainly in French, said if his party gained power in Ottawa, the new government would make equalization payments to the provinces to bring their per capita incomes up to the level of the richest province—Ontario.

SURRENDER TAX FIELDS

Mr. Pearson also said any government he heads would gradually drop out of Dominion-provincial joint projects, turning the responsibility and the tax fields necessary to finance them over to the provinces.

The Liberal leader flies today to Sydney, N.S., to begin a three-day swing through Cape Breton and north-eastern Nova Scotia, speaking at two nominating conventions and other rallies.

Mr. Pearson promised a distinctive Canadian flag, adoption of O Canada as a national anthem, encouragement of bilingualism in the federal civil service, bilingual cheques, and extension of present radio and television networks to give all Canadians access to both cultures.

At a press conference before the rally, Mr. Pearson said he

Nikita Admits Tests Harmful

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev told reporters at a reception tonight the Soviet Union will drop nuclear testing "when the others stop."

Earlier, he acknowledged that nuclear testing is harmful to health.

"If the West continues testing there will be more tests here," he said.

To questions at a party marking the 44th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, Khrushchev also said the Soviet Union does not want to humiliate the West into a needlessly fast response on the Berlin question. But when asked how long the Soviet Union would wait he replied: "Not indefinitely."

Khrushchev also denied reports published in the West that three Soviet cosmonauts had been killed in mid-October.

MOB CROWDS ALEXANDRA

HONG KONG (AP)—Princess Alexandra was nearly mobbed today when several hundred friendly Chinese refugees surged around her car and brought it to a stop.

It took police and security officials more than two minutes to clear a path through the shouting, flag-waving crowd. No one was hurt and the pretty 24-year-old cousin of the Queen showed no sign of fear as the demonstrators milled around inches away from her.

Alexandra is on a state visit to Hong Kong.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as: "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

A Reasonable Request

NOW IN THE LAST WEEK OF its campaign, the United Appeal must raise a further $45,000 to attain its $320,000 objective. The present total is the result of months of organization, weeks of meetings, and many days and nights of canvassing by willing volunteers.

Why do businessmen, factory workers, office employees, housewives give hours of their time for this cause? There is little personal satisfaction in tramping around a large neighborhood and being given one or two dollars at every tenth doorstep. Now and then there is the thrill of receiving a larger donation—$25 or $50—which makes the labor worthwhile. But the monetary return is seldom equal to the expenditure of effort.

What the volunteer workers get is merely the satisfaction of having helped in a community effort, and the knowledge that this form of united giving ensures that the costs of collection and administration will be the lowest of any possible arrangement, that the accounts of the participating agencies are examined carefully by an impartial committee so that every dollar does a full job.

What does the business or household donor get? He or she gets the benefit of living in a community which is alive to its responsibilities; which recognizes the needs of the sick, the needy, the young and the troubled and does something about them. A community which did not do that would have something seriously lacking; it would not be a very pleasant place in which to live.

The donor to the United Appeal also gets the advantage of convenience. Instead of twenty-two requests for contributions to worthy causes, only one is made. The donor gets the satisfaction of knowing that he or she has helped someone who needed it, by putting up the balance of cost where government grants or clients' fees were not sufficient to pay the whole bill.

Many residents have not helped. Some are not in a position to be helping others—they need help themselves. But many others have ignored the appeal or passed it by with a mere token gift—a dollar, perhaps, to finance 22 agencies throughout a whole year.

This is the last week in which to remedy that—to make a worthwhile contribution to a worthwhile campaign. A call to the United Appeal at EV 5-6708 will put you in touch with a canvasser.

What Kind of Reform?

MR. DIFENBAKER HAS ANNOUNCED plans for some Senate reform at the next session and has left the public wondering what changes he has in mind.

Most Canadians who have considered the issue agree on the need for reform. As events in the dying days of the last session indicate there is no certainty that the Prime Minister's views represent those of the country. If Mr. Diefenbaker's reform is to be a type of discipline applied to the Senate for doing what was right, but inexpedient to the Government, then it will earn little public support.

Canadians who have often ridiculed the Senate as a club for people pensioned from partisan political service, can have no wish to see it made an obedient lapdog of the government. Undoubtedly Mr. Diefenbaker recognized that fact when he dropped his threat to go to the country on the issue of Senate reform because the Senate would not do the Government's bidding in the Coyne affair, and insisted on the right of appeal in tariff rulings.

In both cases the Senate stood on the side of right. Seldom in recent years had the Upper Chamber looked better. Here it acted as a body of sober second thought and thereby won the esteem of unbiased Canadians.

There are, however, substantial arguments for reform and they have been expressed on various occasions from different parties, perhaps even before the late Mackenzie King made his unredeemed promise of such action.

With a few, though notable, exceptions, however, appointment to the Senate is generally regarded as a reward by the party in power for political services rendered by the appointee.

There is, as the cynics might point out, a continuous procedure of reform within the Senate ranks. As those named by one government die and are replaced by new members appointed by the administration currently in power, a type of "reform" occurs, or at least a slow trend to redress the balance between Liberals and Conservatives in the membership.

This is scarcely reform as the public sees it. Nor will it be considered reform if the Government merely speeds up the balancing process by retiring a number of Senators on an age basis only and replacing them with "good and faithful servants" of Conservative persuasion.

He Reached for a Camel

A SHORT TIME AGO SOMEONE in the United States conceived the happy thought of bringing to that nation one of the plain people of what are called the underdeveloped countries.

Ahmad Bashir, a camel driver of Pakistan, was chosen for the trip. He came, he saw and apparently he wasn't conquered. Back in Karachi, he told his countrymen that the trip hadn't made him concede.

"I would not change my profession," he said. "I am proud of it and I will continue driving my camel."

In the affluent society of the United States he must have been exposed to the expensive television advertising of major automobile manufacturers who emphasize the luxury in the ride provided by their cars. Ahmad Bashir is apparently not impressed. He'll stay with the camel.

Which may carry a moral too many of us in the so-called highly developed countries tend to ignore. Just possibly the amenities of our western civilization don't represent the be-all and end-all of aspirations to human beings in other parts of the world.

Ahmad Bashir saw what we had to offer, went home and reached for a camel—which even crosses up the advertising slogans on which so many Westerners lean.

"Dear Ellen: Having noted your success with this West Indies immigration problem, I should like to ask your advice on a difficulty I'm having over here."

In Viet Nam: An Asian Version of Berlin

DOUBTS about America's strength of will are very serious in South Viet Nam—though less serious, reportedly, than in other key areas like Thailand.

These doubts are being felt, moreover, at the very moment when the Communists appear to be trying to bring this war to a final climax. The easiest way to see how this is happening, is to go back to the Viet Minh war against the French. The current war's relation to that war is quite direct.

After the French defeat and the division of Viet Nam at Geneva in 1954, the Communists took north with them all members of their regular armed forces in the south. But they left behind in South Viet Nam all their irregular guerrilla troops and all their provincial and village cadres.

Most of those who were left behind in this manner were ready and waiting to march with the Communists once again, when the North Vietnamese government gave its signal for renewed attack on South Viet Nam in 1959.

These facts explain the rapidity with which the Communists were able to organize a major guerrilla effort here.

Admittedly, they were aided by the weaknesses of the Diem government, not to mention the follies of some of the American planning for the Ngo Dinh Diem government's army and police.

But there was, and there still is one cardinal difference between the old war against the French and this new war.

In crude terms, in the war against the French the Communists relied about 80 per cent on the population's dislike of the foreign colonial occupier and only about 20 per cent on terror. But in this war, the percentages are reversed. The Communists have been relying about 80 per cent on terror, while drawing only about 20 per cent of their support from inherent anti-government sentiment. That is a dangerously unbalanced ratio.

Yet the ratio is now being unbalanced still further, in the most coldly ruthless manner.

Mere Murders

In Kien Hoa Province, for instance, where this reporter has just been, the Communists have perpetrated over 80 assassinations since the beginning of July. And they have ceased to be content with the mere customary murders of government officials. Two-thirds of those assassinated have been simple villagers, and most of them were women whose husbands or sons were serving in the army or the home guard.

A ruthless intensification of terror is a two-edged sword, when used against the mass of the population. Similarly, there are grave risks in a reckless intensification of guerrilla war; for it necessarily leads to heavy attrition of the most vital of all assets, the guerrilla fighters themselves. Both kinds of intensification are now being practised here, nonetheless.

This in turn quite clearly suggests that the Communist high command is now playing a short-term game. They are cashing in all their assets without regard to the more remote future, because they hope to bring the war to a climax in the near future.

Final Blow

For this purpose, they need to overstretch the Ngo Dinh Diem government's resources as far as they possibly can, before striking some sort of supposedly final blow.

This means that a decisive American commitment in South Viet Nam is not just desirable to still doubts about America's strength of will. This means that a decisive commitment is probably essential, if a fairly early disaster here is to be avoided.

The on-the-spot case for such a commitment is far stronger than it was in Laos. Above all, the Vietnamese are fighting hard and bravely, whereas the Laotians made no great effort to defend themselves.

The risk of such a commitment should certainly not be underrated. It might end with no alternative except punishing the aggression at its source, in North Vietnam. But the risk of refusing such a commitment must also not be underrated.

If this country is abandoned, the chain reaction will be felt with utmost violence, not just all over Asia, but all around the world. Here in Viet Nam, in truth, we have an Asian version of Berlin.

No Response

May I, through the medium of your newspaper, publicly thank Mrs. Audrey St. Denis Johnson for her article supporting the cause of young, needy Canadian talent. I refer, in particular, to my daughter, Helen Conway Marmo, who has repeatedly won scholarships through drama and has attended UBC's Summer Theatre twice as a result, and finally, won the opportunity to attend Canada's National Theatre School in Montreal. However, Helen is the victim of financial lack. To this end, Mrs. Johnson very kindly wrote her article and Helen and I are both deeply indebted to her.

I wish I could say that Victoria rose to the occasion—realizing in truth that Helen would have gone to Montreal representing her city in the field of drama—but alas, such is not the case. Victoria, like the rest of Canada, is asleep at the switch and the train goes on without good Canadian ability at the controls. One morning it may well be that we will wake up to a shattered world—one in which young Canadians from all walks of life and pursuing many diversified abilities, could have done much to prevent such waste.

Extremists Are Active

By MICHAEL DAVIE, from New York

ONE of the striking political facts about the United States today is the amount of activity on the extreme right-wing. It has no influence on the Administration and its extent is something less than widespread; still, something is certainly afoot.

There is the growing national fame of Senator Barry S. Goldwater, the Arizona Republican with the stunning profile and the "faith of a conservative" as his best-selling book of political statements is called. Goldwater is a leading contender for the Republican nomination in 1964.

Then there is the John Birch Society, whose head, a retired candy manufacturer, has publicly described General Dwight Eisenhower as "a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy."

And now there is a new group, centred in California, calling itself the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, which is having a considerable success.

The Crusade is against Washington, against the United Nations, against Negroes, against income tax. It is for Goldwater and, of course, America.

A few days ago the Crusade held a three-hour rally at the Hollywood Bowl. Twelve thousand people turned up; another estimated 4,000,000 watched the show on 33 television stations in six states.

John Wayne and James Stewart, the film stars, were on hand. The speakers were Senator Dodd, Democrat of Connecticut; Representative Walter Judd, Republican of Minnesota; and C. D. Jackson, publisher of Life magazine.

Mr. Jackson publicly apologized to the Crusaders because Life had printed an "over-simplification" of their activities. He also said it was "a great privilege to align Life with Senator Dodd, Congressman Judd, and the rest of these implacable fighters."

The telecast was paid for by the Richfield Oil Company, the Schick safety razor company, and the Technicolor Corporation.

The leader of this "Americanism—the Only Ism For Me" movement—is not "American" at all, but Australian, a Dr. Fred C. Schwarz. He is integrating rapidly, wears a narrow bow tie, and has applied for U.S. citizenship, which has not yet been granted. He claims that most of his early support has come from small churches; he does not get, he says, major support, from business.

During the next few months, the Crusade plans to stage rallies across the nation, ending up in Madison Square Garden next June.

There are plenty of right-wing crackpot outfits in California, from the network of patriotic Letter Writers to the Minute Men, who want to run their own civil defence program, carrying their own guns and choosing their own hiding places in the event of war.

In Los Angeles, you can buy bumper stickers for your car, price 10 cents apiece, saying "No On Red China," or "Socialism Is Communism." Gramophone records are also available of Rep. Judd giving an address on "Communist Cancer."

The Crusade, however, operates this side of sanity and by the end of the year expects to have a million dollars in the kitty.

Black Magic

The Guggenheim Museum, a Fifth Avenue monument to the megalomania of the architect Frank Lloyd Wright, is staging an exhibition to illustrate the current state of American painting.

The show is called "American Abstractionists and Imagists," and many of the pictures are likely to provoke even the most open-minded visitor to wonder whether some of the boys aren't getting the least bit out of hand.

One canvas is almost entirely a plain yellow. Another consists of two horizontal splotches of color, one grey, one blue, uniformly applied to a plain background.

The trick of the show, however, is a canvas by a New Yorker named Ad Reinhardt. Ad's offering is perfectly square (in the geometrical sense), five feet by five, and perfectly black: a large, black, square.

As you gaze, it becomes apparent that the picture is in truth nine black squares, each being a marginally different black from its fellows. The work is called "Abstract Painting—1961, 1959-61," and it is the biggest draw in the place.

The Broad Trading Pattern of the Future Can Now Be Seen for the First Time

By Max Freedman, from Washington

AFTER pointing out the changes that have occurred in Western Europe as a result of the Common Market, Mr. George Ball, U.S. undersecretary of state for economic affairs, and the spokesman on this issue for the Kennedy administration, in a recent major policy address, said that the broad trading pattern of the future could now be clearly seen for the first time. Stated in its simplest terms, what we may well see emerge, said Mr. Ball, is the concentration of nearly 90 per cent of total free world exports of industrial products in two great common markets—the Common Market of Europe consisting of over 500 million people and an as yet undetermined number of states, and the Common Market of the United States consisting of 180 million people and 50 states.

In each of these areas goods, labor, capital and services will have something approaching complete mobility. And each of these areas will be surrounded by a common external tariff.

Freedman

"The manner in which American industry responds to the reality of this new trading world will, it seems to me, be a test not only of our business leadership but of the sincerity of our commitment to the economic principles which we are constantly advocating. After all, we have been the evangelists of the virtues of free competition. We have preached this gospel incessantly to our European friends. If they now practise what we preach, we should be neither surprised nor dismayed.

"It seems to me a little odd, therefore, that there should be so much talk in business circles these days with overtones of defeatism.

"I hear it said again and again that we have priced ourselves out of the world markets; that our wages are too high and our capital plant obsolete, that foreign competitors can offer more liberal credit terms than American manufacturers; that foreign producers have learned the lessons of American technology, can now use their lower wage rates to drive us out of world markets.

"I shall not continue this refrain. We all know both the words and the music well enough. Not only do these apprehensive citizens see no future in our exports, but they also see doom and menace in our imports. The very foreign competitors who are defeating us in world markets are, they say, beginning to invade our home markets.

"There is hardly a day when a representative of industry does not assert emphatically to us in Washington that his industry needs a system of rigid quotas to keep out foreign imports or it will perish. At the very least, it needs the protection of higher tariffs or some other restrictive arrangements."

No one can doubt, said Mr. Ball, that the need to keep United States goods competitive in world markets is crucial. To achieve that purpose, we shall have to use every measure at hand to dampen inflationary forces and reduce the threat of a wage-price spiral.

One of the most effective measures, as the Europeans have already learned, is to repudiate protectionism, to open the doors and windows of our economy to the competition we must face in world markets. This is one method of controlling inflation that is fully consistent with the ideals of free enterprise we all embrace.

An open competitive trading system in competitive goods will serve American interests in other ways as well. With all the present concern about the balance-of-payments position of the United States, it is easy to forget that the United States has a surplus, not a deficit on merchandise account.

That surplus amounted last year to $4.9 billion, or $2.8 billion if the foreign aid component is subtracted. If we look at industrial products alone, the relative strength of the surplus is even more striking, since total exports of such goods last year were just about double American imports.

"This surplus must be preserved and enlarged; spent on overseas military installations and troop pay, it supports a critical part of the burden of financing the defence of the free world. But to strengthen this surplus, we shall have to avoid any line of policy that calls for United States import restrictions. For in the wave of reaction that would follow, the United States would stand to lose more than it could possibly gain in balance-of-payments terms."

Mr. Ball said that in considering what moves the United States should now make in the field of trade policy, there is one other objective to which we would all subscribe.

This is the aim of increasing American wages and expanding American living standards as speedily as growing productivity will permit. Fortunately, America's most successful export industries are those in which wage rates are highest. It is fortunate, too, that the industries that claim to suffer most from import competition tend, on the whole, to pay low wages.

As far as wages are concerned, therefore, he said, the problem is to find a way of shifting American manpower, as safely and painlessly as possible out of the industries which cannot stand up to foreign competition into those which have stood the test.

If the United States can achieve that shift, it will have a labor force more fully devoted to pursuits with a future—pursuits on the forefront of the technological revolution which the United States must continue to lead.

In blunt terms: "We dare not turn our backs on the logic of our own economic position. For almost 30 years we have led the world toward freer trade. If at this late date we should yield to the importunities of those who would shelter the low-wage industries in our economy and penalize the most efficient, let us be quite clear about the consequences."

"We would set off a chain reaction of retaliation and counter-retaliation that would do irreparable harm to the whole free world but would hurt us most of all. We would give up any claim to a role of leadership in the free world. We would deny the strength and vitality of the economic system for which we stand."

REPORTING

OTTAWA — Come with me to a rare event: a John Diefenbaker press conference.

We jostle into the PM's office with half a hundred newsmen. A huge stuffed bluefin marlin, 142 lbs., caught by you know who, leaps along one wall. When you tear your eyes from the bluefin you look across a big flat-topped desk at the fisherman sitting below a large oil of Sir John A.

There aren't enough chairs so we perch on the window ledge. The president of the Press Gallery asks if the PM has any announcements.

PM: No. The cabinet hasn't met yet. Various reporters: Ha, ha.

Reporter No. 1: When will the session start?

PM: It will be some little time before an announcement.

Reporter 2: Weeks? Days?

PM: That's always subject to each person's interpretation.

Reporter 3: Is there any decision on the Bladen report (on the auto industry)?

PM: The recommendations are being given consideration.

Reporter 4: When will you answer Premier LeSage's letter about university grants?

PM: He took some time to write me. I think I should have the same time to give consideration to his letter as he apparently took to give to mine.

Reporter 5: What was decided about Japanese technicians coming to Canada?

PM: We'll admit limited numbers of technical and management people for three years, with permits then renewable year by year, provided the conditions of their admission remain the same.

Reporter 6: Will the O'Leary magazine report be considered next session?

PM: Yes, there will be an opportunity for Parliament to deal with some of the recommendations.

Reporter 7: Are you going to revamp the immigration laws?

PM: Shortly an announcement will be made respecting the (immigration) regulations (which) determine the application of the act.

Reporter 8: Will you proceed with Senate reform?

PM (smiling): Of the 62 undertakings by me in the 1957 and 1958 elections, over 50 have been carried out. Senate reform was one of them and it will not be entirely lost sight of.

Reporter 9: Wasn't a Canadian flag one of them?

PM: You will note we have a Canadian flag. I at no time discussed that directly. What I said was that we in Canada should try to establish our identity in every way — first by repatriation of the Constitution. I hope to introduce legislation on this in six, eight or 10 months.

Reporter 10: Is that a clue to the election?

PM: That's your idea, not mine.

Reporter 11: Are you still in favor of a permanent Speaker (for the Commons)?

PM: I find that view is not shared by the Liberals, who are contesting the Speaker's riding.

Reporter 12: Did you make overtures to the Liberals?

PM: No overtures.

Reporter 13: In war, will you occupy the shelter at 24 Sussex Street?

PM: I think the leader of the country must not ask for more than is provided for the people.

Reporter 14: Will the Bomarcas have warheads?

PM: I have nothing to add to that.

Reporter 15: Will there be Senate appointments soon?

PM: That reminds me of the time Sir John attended a senator's funeral, and as the casket was passing a man sidled up to him and said, "I wish I could take his place, Sir John." Sir John replied, "I wish the you could, but I'm afraid it's a little late now."

We filed out and the PM could mark up another 1957 promise kept: that he would hold regular press conferences. "Regular" apparently means every year or two.

Who Needs Mother Nature?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here it is November, which means that it's time for me to get rolling with my annual early bird Christmas shopping service.

For the benefit of new subscribers I should explain that this service, which comes to you at no extra cost, is designed to solve your gift problems even before you have them.

As an eloqu coastal gesture, I go through the Christmas gift catalogues that have been piling up at my house since July and pick out the choice selections.

This saves you the trouble of winnowing your own catalogues for gift ideas in the desperation days of December. So let's get at it.

First, a few general observations. Christmas this year can be more artificial than ever. You no longer have to rely on mother nature for any of the trappings.

Aluminum Christmas trees are, of course, already old hat. But these can be made more authentically bogus by spraying them with pine scent, or some other woody aroma. Or, if you prefer a biblical odor, myrr and frankincense now comes in handy spray can.

For an added touch, as one catalogue suggests, "grow apples on your Christmas tree." The apples are made of satin, three for a dollar. Guaranteed unbreakable and, of course, unedible.

So much for decorations. Now for some gift suggestions:

Need something for your hypochondriac friends? How about a leatherette pill case with four separate compartments for tranquilizers, vitamins, etc.?

Each compartment has a little clock that points to the time of dosage. Ends pill-taking confusion.

Ladies, are you tired of having your sloppy husband mess up the kitchen with spewing beer foam? Then give him a new type of beer opener that has a tiny umbrella attached. Keeps him from getting squirted in the eye, and protects your ceiling.

Another practical gift in the catalogues this year is a giant-sized toothbrush. It's for people who can only brush once a week. And why not throw in a tube of "spiked toothpaste," flavored with bourbon or Scotch?

Better yet, give him or her a $3.30 bottle of enamel that spreads a radiant white lustre over dull, stained, yellowed teeth. Applies like nailpolish. Makes brushing unnecessary.

And here's a novelty: Round playing cards. An ideal gift for the squares on your shopping list.

For wives and girl friends, fellows, there is a new type of sweater brush. It is contoured in a certain special way so that the sweater can be brushed while it is being worn. With luck, you can do the brushing.

And, finally, the perfect gift for those who like to putter around with potted plants — a can of "perfumed manure."

Try Sandbox for Carrot Storage

Parsnips may be left in the ground here over winter to be dug as needed for the table, the flavor being improved by frost.

Carrots are not so obliging. They object to being left in the ground after maturity, and show their objection by split roots.

Unlike the potato, carrots do not store well out of the soil, tending to lose their moisture and become soft within a few days.

In the days of root cellars and basement storage rooms we managed to hold the crop reasonably well if temperatures were cool and the air contained the right amount of moisture.

A PROBLEM

In the modern home the storage of carrots can be quite a problem since every corner of the house is subject to artificial heat and a very dry atmosphere.

A sandbox in the coolest corner seems to be the best solution, the box of sufficient size to hold the roots plus sand.

The sand needs to be of a rather coarse nature, coarser than builder's sand, so as not to exclude air from the depths of the box and it would be damp (not wet) when the roots are packed.

Start with a half-inch layer of sand, then a layer of carrots.

Cover these with sand and repeat the carrots and sand layers until all roots are packed. Finish with an inch or so of loose sand on top. Pack only perfect roots in the lower layers, and damaged ones at the top for immediate use.

Although the condition of the roots will be noticed as they are used, once in a while it pays to delve into the lower reaches to find out how the lower layers are keeping.

If mould is present, dump the contents, remove the offenders and repack with the former top layer at the bottom.

Success is not easy the first time because indoor conditions vary from house to house and no set rules can be laid down, but it is worth the effort even if only 50 per cent survives.

MORE THAN MILITARY AID

Freedom Needed For S. Viet Nam

By FRED HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — To boost the fighting will of the South Vietnamese people, the United States may have to exert strong pressure on their pro-Western government for political, economic and social reforms.

This was the view of many Americans and Vietnamese interviewed recently in embattled South Viet Nam.

President Ngo Dinh Diem is a virtual one-man government, and in the past he has not responded readily to prodding.

Gen. Maxwell Taylor, who returned to the U.S. last week from a fact-finding visit to Southeast Asia, has shown in a number of ways his belief that the problem of shoring up South Viet Nam against a rising Communist onslaught involves more than purely military considerations.

A number of Vietnamese and Americans who have been living there say a lack of political freedom and of economic-social betterment have contributed to the apparent apathy.

They also criticize the Diem government's handling of the Montagnards, the hill tribes along the vulnerable Laotian border, across which the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas have been receiving reinforcements in swelling numbers.

RESETTLEMENT POLICY

For some time, the Diem government has been trying to force the mountain tribesmen to resettle in villages where they can be kept under army control.

The Communists have been active among these hill people, promising them local self-government and their own lands. Observers say the rebels, playing down Communist grievances, have made considerable headway.

This could turn out to be South Viet Nam's Achilles heel if, as some Vietnamese officers predict, the Communists make a big military push in the highlands this fall and winter.

There are a number of signs that morale is sagging among certain key groups of South Vietnamese.

Nation-Wide Dairy Policy Being Mapped

TORONTO (CP) — The federal government is working on a national dairy policy, the Ontario Federation of Agriculture was told today.

Divided jurisdiction, conflicting interests in the industry and prices higher than those elsewhere in the world combine to complicate the problem, Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton said in a speech delivered by L. E. Cardiff, his parliamentary secretary.

However, if present willingness to co-operate is kept up, a solution should be found, the federation was told.

Canada's cereals surplus was gone. Now the government was working with provincial governments and the Canadian Federation of Agriculture on the dairy problem — chiefly butter which has reached record stocks in government storehouses.

SOVIETS JAIL TOP JEW

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the most prominent Jewish leaders in Leningrad has been sentenced to 12 years in jail for consorting with so-called "foreign agents" and other "treasonable" activities, the New York Herald Tribune reports.

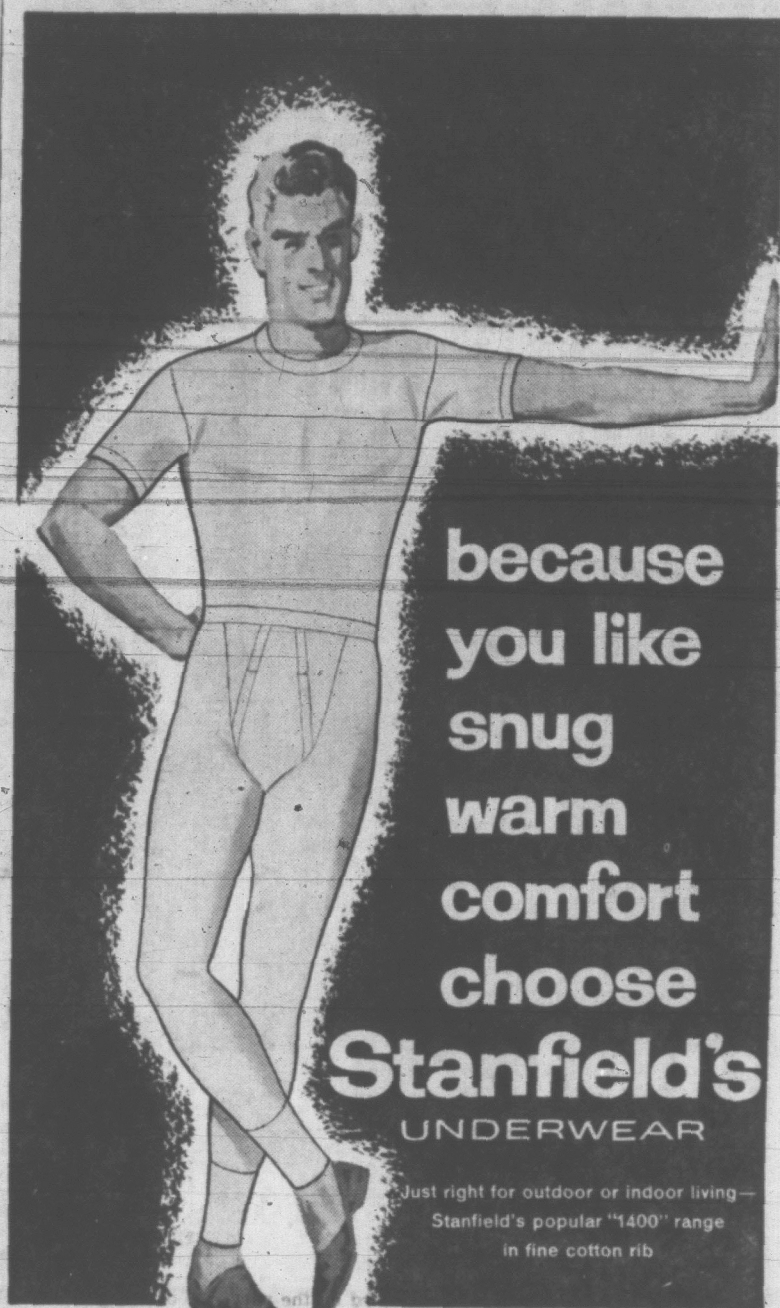

A copyrighted Washington dispatch by Rowland Evans Jr. says the secret trial of Gedalia Rubinovich Pechersky was held at Leningrad on or about Oct. 9 and lasted four days.

Evans writes in part: "Whether he is an isolated victim of special circumstance, or whether the action against him may be part of a new campaign against Jews could not be established."

"But the history of Soviet discrimination against Russia's Jews offers evidence to support the view that the Pechersky trial, disclosed for the first time in this report, could be a harbinger of a new anti-Jewish campaign."

Toronto, Ont. (Exchange) Nov. 7

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor
An imaginative proposal for pipelining iron ore from north-west Alberta deposits to tide-water at either Kitimat or Prince Rupert is under investigation by Premier Steel Mills Ltd. of Edmonton.

Conceived as a $15 million project, the line would take the ore from the Worsley area southwest of Fort St. John down to Prince George and then over to the coast, generally following the PGE and CNR routes.

He pointed out that as of July 31, Canadian banks were already holding some $58 million worth of NHA mortgages.

He said that the banks were not exactly new since some commodities, notably coal, have been successfully moved by pipe for relatively short distances for a number of years.

However, nothing of the scope of Premier's project has ever been thoroughly investigated and if it could be done it would revolutionize the mining industry of western Canada, particularly B.C., where transportation costs are the main drawback to developing a number of good mineral deposits.

Success of the federal government's attempt to reduce long-term interest rates can be seen from the announcement by Works Minister Walker that NHA loan rates are being reduced immediately from 6% to 4% per cent.

The decrease is going to be...

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S. Japan-Canada North Pacific Fisheries Commission meeting here adopted a four-point agenda dealing with king crab, salmon, halibut and herring fishing in the North Pacific.

The closed-door six-day meeting began Monday at the foreign office here. The three countries represented on the commission are signatories of a North Pacific fishery conservation agreement signed in 1953.

The four-point agenda dealt with:
1. The commission's research on king crab resources.
2. Application of studies made by the commission in determining whether there is need to move the North Pacific fishery agreement boundary beyond the 175-degree west longitude line. Under the agreement, Japan has agreed not to fish east of this boundary.
3. Whether Japan should continue to refrain from fishing American stocked halibut and salmon and British Columbia stocked herring.
4. Financial and administrative matters of the commission.
George R. Clark, deputy minister of fisheries, heads the Canadian group.

HONORED—B.C. Association of Real Estate Boards has paid singular tribute to Miss Mary Simpson, deputy superintendent of insurance for B.C. since 1945, who is retiring in December. Announcement of the scholarship was made at an association dinner in Miss Simpson's honor.

Industrials, Speculatives Move Higher

Industrials and speculatives alike were higher in trading today on the Toronto stock market.

In late day trading Montreal Locomotive and Crown Trust placed industrials by reaching new highs as steel, utilities and refining oils all advanced.

Trans-Canada Pipe Line gained $1 to reach a new high in heavy trading while Calgary Power, Galtano Power, Canadian Oil and Imperial Oil all gained.

subject of some dispute in the housing industry since there is a danger that approved lenders, already a little shaky on putting more funds into what many consider the over-built NHA housing field, might withdraw in favor of other investment fields.

Mr. Walker hinted that the government would be happy to see the chartered banks re-enter the mortgage field since, as he pointed out, the new rate is only a maximum and there is nothing to prevent the banks from lending money at their maximum 6 per cent.

However, one local banker is rather doubtful that banks are very anxious to get back into mortgages.

He pointed out that as of July 31, Canadian banks were already holding some $58 million worth of NHA mortgages.

That's an awful lot of capital for the banks to have tied up, he pointed out. "Still, with money easier, there is the possibility that the banks might go back into the mortgage field in a small way."

He also noted that back through the years the prime cause of bank failures in Canada and the United States has always been too great involvement in mortgages.

Mr. Walker predicted total housing starts for this year would reach 123,000 compared with 108,558.

He wouldn't, however, predict how much, if any, the lower interest rates would stimulate the building industry.

Giant Mascof Mines, Ltd., has announced it will boost capacity of its Hope mill from 900 to 1,200 tons daily as a result of increase in its nickel-copper ore reserves by about 650,000 tons.

President W. C. Gibson said no outside financing would be needed for the $200,000 expansion.

The mill will be closed down from the middle of this month to the end of the year for the reconstruction which is expected to substantially reduce cost of operations.

Saanich Backs Campus Site

Saanich council will inform the federal government it favors the construction of a $1,800,000 forestry biological laboratory on the Victoria College Gordon Head campus instead of at the junction of Burnside and the Trans-Canada Highway.

Council's decision followed receipt of a letter from Victoria College Council stating it would like the laboratory on the new campus.

'BOOTED AROUND'

Reeve George Chatterton recalled that the question of where to locate the building has been "booted around" for months.

But, he added, interested groups, including the Victoria Chamber of Commerce are all in favor of the Gordon Head site.

Couns. Joseph Casey and Leslie Passmore feared that if Saanich insisted the site be changed, the federal government would drop its plans to build the laboratory in Saanich.

Reeve Chatterton replied that Forestry Minister Hugh Flemming had informed him if all parties are in favor of the Gordon Head site, the building would go up there.

"Tenders for the building should be called in April," he said.

But Coun. Passmore still felt council was taking a risk in advocating a change of site.

Fire Kills 2

PRINCE RUPERT—A man and a woman died in a house fire near here Sunday, a week before their wedding day.

Police said the blaze in the Quick district, five miles east of here, took the lives of Egbert Yager, 63, and Mrs. D. de Jong.

Friends said Mr. Yager had planned to marry Mrs. de Jong, who came to the district from Port Arthur three days ago.

BEER VOTE FOR SAANICH

By a vote of five to one, Saanich council Monday approved holding a plebiscite on the sale of beer by the glass in the municipality.

"Go slow — wait," urged Coun. Robert Chard in opposing a motion requesting the provincial government to hold the plebiscite.

"Investigate the matter thoroughly first and inquire on what type of controls Saanich can impose on licensed premises," he said.

COUNCIL CONTROL

But Coun. Leslie Passmore, backed by the remaining councillors, pointed out that council would have full control over the location of beer gardens in the municipality.

Council approved a plebiscite after hearing that a petition signed by 1,600 residents had been submitted to the municipal clerk.

At an Oct. 23 meeting, council rejected a similar bid to hold a plebiscite because it had not been shown the public was sufficiently interested in having beer parlors in the municipality. There were only seven petitioners then.

The plebiscite likely will be held at the Dec. 7 municipal elections, but the provincial government which controls the voting machinery can hold it sooner or later.

It is backed by real estate agents who informed council two weeks ago the lack of licensed premises in Saanich is holding back the construction of hotels in commercial areas.

Coun. Chard told council he is not actually against beer parlors, but is opposed to the manner they are controlled, operated and built in Canada.

"The main purpose of the liquor laws seems to be to encourage people to drink as much beer as possible."

He noted that present liquor laws do not encourage social drinking as in England or quiet places where people can have a beer.

He said Saanich should delay the plebiscite until next year and inquire if it could control the architecture of public houses and their locations.

CHEAP PLACES
"If we are not careful, we are going to see a lot of cheap beer gardens go up in the municipality," he warned. "The Seattle Fair is next year and the request to sell beer by the glass is probably to cash in on the crowds who will be coming here."

Coun. Joseph Casey said he was in favor of a plebiscite, but not because he drank beer. "I drink whisky," he said.

'Feeling-Out' Encounter By Reeveship Aspirants

Two councillors contesting the Saanich reeveship in December clashed over a zoning application at a council meeting Monday.

Coun. Leslie Passmore favored the extension of a light industrial zone on Lochside and Nicholson for storage of contractor's equipment.

But Coun. Murphy said extension of the light industrial zone would lead eventually to increased traffic hazards for children living on neighboring streets.

Coun. Robert Chard supported Coun. Murphy. "I thought one of our jobs is to stop spot zoning," he said. "If we approve this application we are making a bigger smudge."

But the remaining councillors thought differently.

CENTENNIAL SQUABBLE

'Lots of Time, Why All Fuss?'

Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell Monday said criticisms of the city's centennial planning process "is premature".

He acknowledged that the public had no information on the plans but claimed that these would be fully revealed by mid-month after a comprehensive review by the centennial advisory committee.

Archie Wills, appointed co-ordinator of planning for the 1962 city centennial after William Dow resigned Sept. 15, said the committee would meet behind closed doors next week.

"So soon as we have the meeting, I will be making press releases on the items (in the plans)," he said.

IMPORT PLANNERS

Ald. Michael Griffin earlier called for importation of some top flight Century 21 planners from Seattle to evaluate Victoria's centennial planning.

He said officials here felt centennial plans were excellent but the public would be reassured by confirmation from an independent and expert source.

WARNING BY CLACK

City planner Roderick Clack, chairman of a sub-committee drafting arrangements for centennial decorations, wrote Mr. Wills a strongly-worded warning from the group that "apparent lack of positive direction" from policy-makers was hamstringing the planning work.

"The sub-committee . . . is of the opinion that continued delay will soon prevent the production of any reasonable centennial decorations," the letter said.

'LOTS OF TIME'

Ald. Dowell said he could not understand the current criticism.

"There is lots of time so far as that goes," he said. "I don't know why all the fuss about this. Aug. 2 is the city's actual birthday."

He disagreed with Ald. Griffin's suggestion of importing Century 21 planners for an evaluation "because they are only used to talking in terms of millions—after all they're spending $80,000,000 on the world's fair."

MODIFICATION

Although no celebration events have been revealed so far, City Hall is progressing towards a modified permanent project recommended by a centennial subcommittee.

The subcommittee said a new City Hall should be established in a civic precinct.

Since then, council has rezoned the Cathedral Hill area to create a civic precinct and has opened negotiations with the provincial government for a grant towards a fund for buying private property in the precinct. It also is negotiating for purchase of the B.C. Hydro building as a City Hall.

Monitors Will Become 'Answer Men'

In tomorrow's world the radiation monitor may be as commonplace as the meter reader. Who is he? What does he do? And so what?

The answers to these questions will be increasingly self-evident under a plan for Canada's radiological defence, soon to be set in motion by the army, civil defence organizations and local authorities. This system was described here Monday.

Meanwhile, the monitor is someone instructed in the use of instruments designed to detect, identify and compute radioactive intensity.

Insidious Poison

Without instrumentation, radiation is impossible to detect with the five senses. It is without color, smell or form. It is an insidious poison.

Smugglers Ditch Haul of Watches

NEW HAVEN, England (AP)—Smugglers ditched the equivalent of $140,000 worth of counterfeit watches as they escaped from customs agents in a 100-mile-an-hour chase through the Sussex country, the Monday. The customs men closed in on the smugglers as they came ashore from an old fishing boat. But the smugglers rushed for a waiting fast car and crashed through a barrier set up to stop them.

It can cause illness, mutations and death. It can also be fought. The monitor's prime purpose is to set out danger zones due to nuclear fallout from explosions in an atomic war. In this capacity he may be soldier or civilian.

Peacetime Work

However, a monitor's usefulness is not limited to time of hostility; he may be pressed into service in peacetime to search for lost radioactive sources such as cobalt 60 or radium needles used in hospitals and laboratories, or in the event that nuclear testing results in even greater menace by causing fallout hot-spots, for example.

At present, most radiation monitors are part of civil defence organizations, trained in Canada by the department of national health and welfare at CD College.

Some are trained locally by men who have been to the college. These might include people from industry whose duty it may be to monitor evacuated factories to determine whether radiation count has fallen to a safe level, enabling employees to return.

Industrial Mishap

This could apply in either a wartime nuclear attack, or where there has been an accident involving contamination by a radioactive substance used in industry.

In heavy fallout areas monitors may also survey clothing of people exposed to radioactive dust; foodstuffs, water supplies or any suspected source of radioactive contamination.

Some industries have set up their own monitor teams, or are training them now. Bell Telephone in Ontario and Quebec are forming teams of selected employees, following CD College procedure.

As part of Time Inc.'s civil defence program, floor wardens in the Time & Life Building, New York, were issued last week with radiation detection kits, to be supplemented when needed by pocket dosimeters so that each staff member can watch his own radiation dose.

Tools of the monitor's trade are relatively simple but costly—survey meters, commonly known as Geiger counters, a pocket calculator, protective clothing, boots, gloves and perhaps a respirator.

Teams of men so equipped and in touch with a key point can effectively establish boundaries delineating various radioactive intensities within a single building, a street, suburb, section of a province, or the whole country.

In wartime, where radioactive dust has fallen over a city, monitors would pick out the area of greatest hazard, those of little or no hazard, and the public could then go about their business in the safe or less-hazardous areas, depending upon the urgency of their work.

Tolerable Doses

No one should expose himself to radiation without good reason.

As far as can be determined, all whole-body radiation is bad, but the national health department has set tolerable dose limits for peacetime and wartime.

Anyone normally working with radioactive materials, such as x-ray technicians, must have a record of his exposure kept by a special government service in Ottawa.

In wartime the individual—field monitor, soldier or man on the street (only he would likely be in a shelter)—could keep his own record with a dosimeter which records cumulative dose.

Next instalment will explore fallout.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A documentary called Cuba Si, which CBC authorities withheld from showing on its television circuits, will be released in changed and modified version, CBC president J. A. Quimmet announced Monday.

Mr. Quimmet said the show was withheld previously because it did not give a complete picture of Cuba today. It was one-sided in favor of the Castro regime. "If it had been all anti-Castro, we would not have approved it," he said. "We must make sure when a controversial matter is handled that all significant points of view are covered."

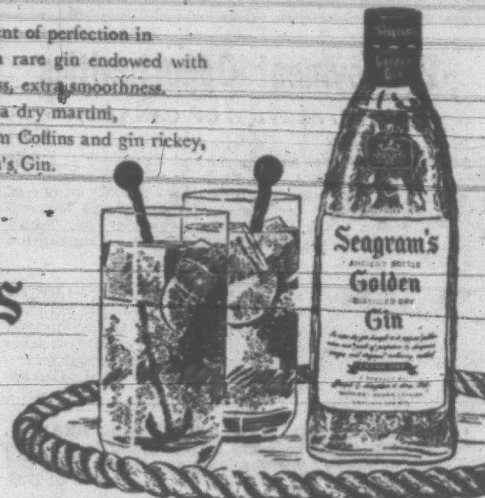

"This is not a case of censorship. It is a matter of international responsibility to produce a complete and responsible report of the situation. Cuba Si was not a complete picture of the situation."

DON'T LET FOE STRIKE FIRST SENATOR URGES

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—Senator George A. Smathers says he thinks the United States should not rule out the possibility of striking the first blow if a nuclear war seems imminent. Both President Kennedy and former president Eisenhower have said the United States would not start a nuclear war, the Florida Democrat noted Monday night in a speech. "I don't agree that this is the right theory at all," said Smathers.

'Pony' and 'Little Joe' Enter Jockey Hall of Fame

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Linus "Pony" McAtee and "Little Joe" Nutter rode into old Pimlico's Jockey Hall of Fame Monday with fond memories of "the good old days" and a salute to the present.

These were two of the best. Nutter, now 72, rode Regret in 1915 when she was the only filly ever to capture the Kentucky Derby and the 64-year-old Pony gave a classic performance taking the 1929

Rose Run with Clyde Van Dusen in the mud from an outside post position.

But you'll not find them looking down their noses at the current crop of riders.

"Eddie Arcaro, Willie Shoemaker and Manuel Ytaza of the present era could hold their own with the jockeys of any period," said Nutter, while McAtee added, "You can add Johnny Longden to that list."

Yet, maybe it is the way with those whose brightest memories are concerned with the past, but Nutter remembers a horse long gone as the best of them all while McAtee thinks that race riding once was a much more difficult profession in the long ago.

"Colin, who was unbeaten in 1907 and 1908, was the best horse I ever saw or ever rode," Nutter insisted at his reunion with McAtee in the trophy-lined playroom of his neat Long Island home. "None of the present champions would even be close."

"Colin would outrun 'em and he'd outstay 'em," insisted the little man who was the leading money winner of 1908 with $464,322 in purses, a mark which stood 15 years until the immortal Earl Sande wiped it out. "He was a sweet horse. He stood as quiet as a plow horse at the start, but none ever beat him away from there."

You have to rate Nutter, still a perennial visitor to the New York tracks, as an expert for he rode such great steeds of the past as Sweep, Whisk Broom, Pennant, Celt, Fair Play and Peter Pan during a career which started in 1904 and ended in 1918 with 432 wins.

McAtee, who once shot golf in the low 70's and played often with baseball's legendary Babe

Ruth, credits the film patrol with cleaning up the race riding business. If it had been in existence earlier, he insisted, it would have prolonged the careers of many fine riders.

"There's no question but what the cameras cleaned up the game," says Pony, who rode 888 winners from 1914 through 1932 and was astride such as Exterminator, Twenty Grand and Whiskery.

"We used to have to watch every move," he explained. "It was nothing for a jock to grab your saddle cloth or ride you close or take you wide. It was all part of the game."

Now a boy pays attention to his riding and, if somebody fells him, the pictures show it and the number comes down."

Nutter agrees. "In my day, you didn't claim foul unless the other guy was deliberately trying to put you over the rail," he explained. "You just protected yourself at all times."

"I remember a time," he reminisced, "when three of us were coming down to the wire together. The jock on my left grabbed my saddle cloth and I hit him over the head with my whip. I won by inches. My owner raised Cain because I didn't complain to the stewards but I told him to wait and see what the other jock did. If he claimed foul, I'd have explained. But he didn't, and my number stood."

The two oldsters were delighted at the honor which had at long last been bestowed upon them.

"It's wonderful," Nutter said in a low voice. "It just came a little late. My wife died last February."

Still, he admitted with a smile, she always knew he was one of the best. The voting only confirmed it for both him and little "Pony."

LOOKS AT SPORTS

Twenty-four hours had elapsed since the B.C. Lions, a classic case of football futility, had suffered a 43-7 indignity at the hands of Calgary Stampede.

It seemed safe to put in a call to Dave Skrien, the B.C. master cerebellum. The question was: where to locate the body? The morgue? A mountain hide-out? And once located, would he talk? Coaches that endure the sort of agony he experienced Sunday rarely come up clutching a rose in their teeth, willing to answer lofty questions from penny whistle tooters.

A call to the Lions' den disclosed that Skrien was not only alive but positively loquacious. His conversation bore no characteristics of a man, poised and waiting for the attendants in the white jackets to arrive.

He talked about (a) an extensive scouting trip he will begin this week; (b) Joe Kapp and Bob Schloredt, his quarterbacks; (c) his fondness for Courtenay as a training base; and, (d) the merits of private vs. public ownership of a professional football team.

Lots of Livestock May Be Answer

He did not discourse at length on what Calgary did to his troops. Apart from something like "Oh, my gracious to Betsy," there is nothing that he could say which could be printed.

The purpose of his southern jaunt, he said, was to survey vibrant, healthy specimens cavorting on college grid-irons. Those not susceptible to the lure of National Football League money but with the credentials he is looking for will get a chance to accept good, fresh Canadian currency.

According to the rules of the game, the pros cannot openly covet collegians until the season ends. Clandestine meetings between the two parties, however, are not as uncommon as jaywalking or tipping garbage cans on Halloween.

Skrien naturally refrained from saying what specialized kind of livestock he seeks. Judging from the Lions' record (one win, two ties, 13 humiliations) he may well be inclined to sign up a couple of boxcars full of beef on the hoof.

Distinctly surprising was his remark that he will not especially seek quarterbacks. "We do not feel," he said, "that quarterbacking is one of our critical problems."

Kall a Kab for Kapp—and Hurry!

This may come as a shock to the 20,000 plus patrons who consistently watched the Lions this season. B.C. thought so highly of its starting qb Jim Walden, that they shipped him to Calgary for Joe Kapp. Everybody in North America (except the Lions) knew that Kapp's knees were so tucky, he could barely make it to the bathroom without a taxi.

Kapp has thrown the football well. But he cannot amble with it. Since the Lions offense—or what passes for it—is predicated on a running tactic, obtaining Kapp made every bit as much sense as buying a new suit with a vest but no pants.

Next year, implied Skrien, it will be different. "Kapp will undergo further treatment this winter. The medical advice we have is that Kapp's knees may respond well enough to let him run quite well."

Good enough. But why, he was asked, did he not use Bob Schloredt, the Washington rookie, Sunday when he was experimenting with personnel?

"I intended to. But after Calgary scored those two quick touchdowns, we flattened out and things got worse. Using Schloredt under those conditions wouldn't have helped him or the team."

One Admiral Can Outdo 24 Generals

Whatever mistakes the Lions made in '61, training in Courtenay wasn't one of them, Skrien said.

Will they return?

"I favor the idea. Everything was fine except for the field. They had a little trouble with water on it but they can fix that. Conditions generally were perfect."

Skrien, the coach, became Skrien, the mummy when asked to comment on the probe of the Lions sought by win-hungry petitioners. Perhaps his silence was due to the fact that he is as confused as they are.

Tired by the team's ineffectual showing, the 3,610 shareholders nominated eight men who in turn are to nominate three men who are to investigate the team's 24 directors whom the 3,610 shareholders elected in the first place.

What about the proposition that private ownership is more efficient than public ownership?

"That's a popular theory," he said, "but not always correct. Washington Redskins are an outstanding example of inefficiency under private ownership. There's nothing wrong with public ownership as long as you select sound men and not too many of them."

Loosely translated that means 24 generals can tilt the boat but one admiral can keep it afloat with far less wind.

Canada Drops to 3rd In U.S. Horse Show

NEW YORK (CP)—The United States won its first two events in international jumping at the U.S. national horse show Monday and dropped Canada to third place from second in team standings.

Kathy Kusner, 21, from Arlington, Va., in her first year of international competition, won the Royal Winter Fair trophy, riding High Noon.

No one in the field of 14 cleared all 12 jumps. Miss Kusner cleared 10, knocked down the 11th and cleared the last for her winning 21 points.

Lieut. Eduardo Castaing of Argentina was second with 13 points and Dr. Hugo Arrambide of Argentina was third with seven. Dr. Arrambide is the show's leading rider.

Melvin Stone of Toronto, riding Top Gallant, was fourth with five points. Jim Elder of Aurora, Ont., Tom Gayford, the show's defending top rider, and six other entrants also had five points but Stone's time of 13.5 seconds was the best.

TOURING HARLEM CLOWNS

Chiefs to Help Test Runt's Theory

Al "Runt" Pullins will put his theory to another test at Central Junior High School Thursday night.

Pullins, owner of the Harlem Clowns touring basketball team, sends his colored court comedians against Victoria's Haida Chiefs and the Clowns will be trying to follow the usual instructions from the boss.

"Give the fans good basket ball, send them home laughing and they'll come back," Pullins has always said.

His charges have served up satisfactory portions of hoop skill and humor in previous visits to Victoria. How many fans will be back will be learned when the Clowns tackle the Chiefs, the city's new Senior "A" club, which will be making its first start.

It is 27 years since Pullins, after playing several seasons with the famed Harlem Globetrotters, branched out on his own in the barnstorming basketball business.

He started from the east in 1934 with the New York Globetrotters, working as player, owner and coach. Before the club reached California he switched the name to Broadway Clowns. Eleven years ago, Runt changed the title to Harlem Clowns and now has two units on the road. Between them, the western and eastern units are slated to play 300 games this season.

Back for an eighth season with the western squad, which is currently touring Vancouver Island, is 245-pound Bob Woods, pivot man and leader of the Clowns' capers in comedy.

Smallest men on the club are Clinton Roberts, former junior college all-American who once fired 64 poi ts in a single game, and all-around ace Eddie Hurt. Both step in at an even six feet.

Tallest is six-eight Art Smith, a high-scoring centre who now coaches the unit.

Rounding out the squad are Charlie Taylor, veteran Chico Burrell and Hal McDaniel.

Chiefs, managed by Neil Sprinkling, will play exhibition games during the winter and plan to enter Island playdowns.

Among the players lined up by Sprinkling are Mike Sollice, Ken McCulloch, Bill Wilson, John Davlin, Ed Steele and John Gubbels.

Tickets for Thursday's game will be available at the door.

Poised Rods Finish Season for 'Lomas

By JIM PEACOCK

VANCOUVER (CP)—A tough crew from St. James, Man., has ended the Cinderella story of Vancouver Meralomas.

The Rods, poised and experienced, pounced on the younger, lighter Meralomas Monday night for a 21-8 victory in the sudden-death Western Canada junior football final.

The win—the fifth since 1954 in this competition for St. James—sent the Rods into the national final against the Eastern Canada champion in Calgary Nov. 13.

For the 'Lomas, the loss ended a season that had gone much longer than expected. Their victory in British Columbia playoffs came as a surprise. So did their upset win over the bigger Edmonton Huskies here a week ago in the Western semifinal.

OUT OF CLASS

But the 'Lomas were out of their class against the Rods. They made mistakes early and found themselves behind quickly as the Rods turned a midfield fumble and a 15-yard penalty into a touchdown and a first-quarter lead of 7-1.

More mistakes in the second sent Rods ahead 13-1 and the Manitoba club led 20-1 after three quarters.

SCORE TOUCHDOWNS

Fullback John Davidson, halfback John Shanski and halfback Ermano Barone scored the Rod touchdowns. Davidson from seven yards out, Shanski from 10 yards out and Barone on a 76-yard burst through the line.

End Gary Robson converted one touchdown and halfback Brian Lunney kicked for two singles before he was thrown out of the game for rough play late in the fourth quarter.

Quarterback Dick Gibbons, a standout for 'Lomas, scored on a four-yard run in the final quarter for Vancouver's lone touchdown. End Wayne Jones converted. Halfback Bruce MacArthur had given 'Lomas an early 10 lead with a long punt off the St. James 27.

ROUGH GAME

The game was rough and penalty filled and Meralomas' Ernie Denney and Rods' Les Allen were thrown out for fighting in the third quarter. Rods took 15 penalties for 136 yards and 'Lomas got 12 for 80.

Statistically, the game was fairly even, but 'Lomas made most of their gains in their own end zone until the last quarter.

Fury Fashions Easy Cup Win

MELBOURNE (AP)—Lord Fury, one of the most lightly weighed horses in the race, scored an all-the-way victory Monday in the 101st running of the Melbourne Cup at Flemington.

Lord Fury, carrying 106 pounds, took over soon after the start of the two-mile race and won by a length and a half from Grand Print.

Dhulagiri, top weighted at 131 pounds, was third.

Lord Fury's time of 3:19.5 equaled the Australian record.

Provost Took Seven Years To Reach Top

MONTREAL (CP)—Claude Provost, 28, a right winger, is atop the National Hockey League's individual scoring race for the first time in seven seasons with Montreal Canadiens.

Provost, who has never scored more than 19 goals in one season, has 10 this year in just 11 games. He also has 10 assists for 20 points—two more than Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers.

Official NHL statistics today show Provost picked up five points—three goals and two assists—in three games last week to vault past Bathgate who slumped for the second straight week.

Bathgate collected only one assist—his 13th of the season—in three games, slipping from the leadership for the first time since the season got under way four weeks ago.

Provost tops the league in goals. Only five other players have been able to score as often as seven times so far. Bathgate leads in assists.

Veteran Johnny Bower of Toronto continues to lead the goaltenders. Bower has allowed only 18 goals in 10 games for a sparkling 1.80 goals-against average. Lorne Worsley of New York ranks second with a 2.78 mark.

Detroit is the most penalized team with 144 minutes. Defenseman Lou Fontinato of Montreal is the most penalized player with 36 minutes.

TEE TOPICS

By ERNIE FEDORUK

The sky was overcast, but without the threat of rain. Greenskeeper Freddie Painter rolled by in a jeep, offered a cheery wave, and Joe Pryke had the practice green to himself.

"I've been having a little trouble with these," said Pryke, and continued to work on the six-foot putts.

The regular pre-supper parade of cars from Naden began its little game of "Who's Chicken?" at the Tillicum and Craigflower corner. An Esquimalt police car took its watchdog position at the corner and, closer to home, Leo Dorman came charging out of the secretary's office to transact some business with Wally Jamieson in the pro shop.

"Sometimes," Pryke muttered as a ball slipped by the hole, "putting can become so exasperating."

Normally, the duffer would take three putts to put a ball into the Pacific Ocean. Still, he said, it has improved lately.

That's not unlike Joe. After some 40 years in the business, Gorge Vale's resident professional will still pay heed to anything that a 17-handicapper might have to offer.

"You're never too old to learn," said Joe.

That's a stock answer from a 58-year-old professional who has long been regarded as one of the island's most capable instructors.

Joe Pryke is no stranger to fairway problems. Golf has dominated his life since he arrived at Victoria in the fall of 1933. It has been both his livelihood and hobby.

Doctor Turned Joe Toward Golf Job

But it might have been only a hobby. Had fate not interfered, he might have been known as Joe the Jeweller instead of Pryke the pro. Watch repairs were going to be his business until one day in 1920 when a Calgary doctor suggested he would feel better if he took a job "where there's some fresh air."

Son of the head greenskeeper at the Calgary Golf and Country Club, Pryke turned to the fairways.

Young Joe turned professional so quickly that he never had time to compile a lengthy amateur record. Still, there is a record.

"I played in only one amateur tournament in my life," It sounded like a boast. "It's one round of golf I've never forgotten."

"I had 150—exactly—for the 18 holes. My buddy beat me by one stroke."

Needless to say, Pryke has improved since his last amateur tournament. So did his "buddy." Pryke's partner was Ron McWilliam, who later went on to collect the Alberta Open championship.

Calgary was where Pryke was born and the Stampede City was where he stayed until after Tommy Morrison took over the pro's job at the Mayfair in Edmonton.

"Tommy was an amateur. When he took the Mayfair job, he wanted somebody with experience in the pro shop."

That opened the door for Joe and led to his first job as head pro—at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club. Later, when the Hudson's Bay Company decided to build a course just south of Edmonton's Municipal Airport, Joe helped organize the Prince Rupert course in the Alberta capital.

Everything Improved But the Rules

It was Pryke's acquaintance with HBC that led to his appointment at Gorge Vale which, originally, also began under that company's supervision.

Covers have been knocked off a countless number of golf balls since 1920. Most of the changes, Joe says, "are for the best." Courses and working conditions have improved tremendously and somewhere along the way Joe acquired a wife, Jean, two daughters and four grandchildren.

One aspect of golf has not improved, to Mr. Pryke's way of thinking.

"The rules. You have to be a Philadelphia lawyer to understand them today. There are too many local rules nowadays. In the old days, there was only one."

"You put the ball on the tee and never touched it until you took it out of the hole."

At that, Mr. Pryke went back at trying to knock the little white ball into the cup. Dorman scurried back into his den, and the Esquimalt "watchdog" suddenly took off after the driver of a beetle-sized car who wasn't going to "chicken" at the stop light.

SCHLOREDT MAY QUIT FOOTBALL

Drilling Teeth Better Than Job With Lions?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Quarterback Bob Schloredt, hero of two Rose Bowl games, said Monday he is considering quitting football for dentistry.

He made the comment in an interview following the end of the 16-game Western Conference schedule, during which he spent most of his first year in professional football as a defensive backfielder with British Columbia Lions.

Schloredt said he has no complaint about the Lions and added that he has a contract signed for next season. But he plans to spend the next few months debating whether future security will be found best in dentistry or pro football.

"I'm going back to school now to finish my degree and then it'd be a four-year course if I went on to dentistry," said the former Washington University ace.

"I couldn't continue in football if I went into dentistry because the dates clash. I have chances to go into practice with some dentists in Seattle and Portland."

Schloredt, twice voted outstanding player in Rose Bowl games as he led the Washington Huskies to two Bowl victories before turning pro this year, said he'll talk with head coach Dave Skrien of Lions before leaving Vancouver for Seattle later this week.

"Don't get the idea I'm trying to be traded or anything like that," he said.

"I'd much rather play football for a career than be a dentist. I enjoy playing defensive halfback but I came here trying for quarterback."

"During the next months I'll just try to figure out whether I'm cut out for pro ball."

Schloredt saw little action at quarterback during the 1961 season, when Lions won once and tied two games while losing 13.

JUDGMENT ERROR

Poile Asks For Probe After Loss

EDMONTON (CP)—Bud Poile, manager-coach of the Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League has asked league president Al Leader of Seattle to investigate a 4-3 overtime loss by Flyers to Calgary Stampede in Calgary Saturday night.

Poile claims Edmonton should have won the game on a goal scored when Roger DeJordy fired the puck past Calgary goalie Ed Babiuk. He says a whistle in the crowd stopped play immediately after the goal and referee Lloyd Gilmour called a facelift.

Lou Janowski eventually scored the winner for Stampede at 1:06 of the overtime period.

Poile said today in an interview he has asked Leader for a ruling on the play, and added Gilmour "made a very bad error in judgment that had a direct bearing on the outcome of the game."

Soccer Outlook—Chile and Warm

LONDON (CP)—For England's national soccer team the outlook is Chile, with a warm reception.

By virtue of a 2-0 win over Portugal last month, England qualified for next year's World Cup. The tournament's venue is Chile, land of warm sunshine and hot-tempered soccer fans.

It's the lineup—not the climate or partisan crowds—that is causing concern among observers. The England team has lost only once in its last 11 outings, but it isn't showing the form that is needed to carry off the World Cup, soccer's most valued prize.

The trouble lies in the attack. Two new forwards were brought in this season—Bryan Douglas, at inside right and Pointer at centre forward. They replaced Jimmy Greaves and Gerry Hitchens, who had signed for Italian Clubs during the summer.

Consequently, the forward line has lost its punch, and isn't finding the net so often.

The critics want to see Greaves and Hitchens back on the team, but the selectors seem unwilling to do this, although they deny there is any prejudice against the two.

In Greaves' case there is an explanation of sorts. In the five months he has been in Italy there have been endless disputes between Greaves and his club, Milan, which took the edge off his effectiveness.

Hitchens is different. He played two games for England last season but failed to impress. Since his move to Italy, however, his play has improved and he now is among the leading goal-getters.

FOUR WARM-UPS

The England team has four warm-up matches scheduled before the World Cup competition starts in May. These games will give the selectors an opportunity to experiment with the attack.

The consensus is that Hitchens will win back his place. But Greaves has been put in a bad light, and it could mean that the ex-Chelsea star will forfeit the trip to South America.

LOST ITS PUNCH

Douglas and Pointer haven't maintained the goal-scoring touch of their predecessors.

Students, Virtus Score Shutouts

Victoria College and Victoria Virtus chalked up shutout victories in Sunday's Combination Soccer League matches.

Virtus tripped B.C. Electric 2-0 and the students blanked William Head 2-0. In Sunday's third game, Royal Roads edged B.C. Forest Products 2-1.

On Saturday, Eddy's Electric and Oak Bay played to a 1-1 deadlock. Northwestern Creamery beat Saanich Hornets 4-1. Dormans thumped Painters 7-1 and Saanich Warriors defeated Songhees Falcons 1-0.

Wanderers Blitz Scottish Squad

Three tries by Ken Bosence paced Oak Bay Wanderers to a 31-0 victory over Canadian Scottish during weekend action in the Victoria Rugby Union's junior division.

In other junior matches, Air Cadets downed Sea Cadets 6-3, and PCLCI bombed Mount Newton 16-3.

CANADIAN, RUSS SETBACK AT MET

NEW YORK (CP)—The Metropolitan Opera presented Aida Monday night with two new stars—a Canadian and a Russian—and New York critics decided the castings were not good ones.

Tenor Jon Vickers, a native of Prince Albert, Sask., played Radames opposite Russian star Galina Vishnevskaya and the critics found that both had trouble with the Italian idiom.

Paul Henry Lang of the New York Herald Tribune said both the new stars "are fine artists but they were patently miscast—Italian opera is not their dish. More precisely, it is not yet Miss Vishnevskaya's dish and I am afraid it never will be Mr. Vickers'...."

"Mr. Vickers we found outstanding in Fidelio and Die Walkure," but these are German operas, calling for German style of singing—Italian bel canto is foreign to him. The lustrous quality is missing, the effortless gliding from vowel to vowel, the open-throated, sensuous, warm and rounded tone is not his, even though his voice is big, manly and has plenty of carrying power.

"He proceeds from tone to tone, in the declamatory manner, and those single tones are apt to differ considerably in quality and color. I think that Mr. Vickers should stay within the balliwick of the heldentenor; it is a big field and he won't find it crowded."

Harold C. Schonberg of The Times found Vickers "disappointing, all the more in that his work in the past has established him as an important tenor."

Lost B.C. Man Brought Back To Face Charge of Bigamy

VANCOUVER (CP)—A city geologist who disappeared Oct. 6, 1960, on a 100-mile trip from Hope to Vancouver was to appear in court today on a charge of bigamy.

Charles Henry Stowell was flown here from Beatty, Nev., as a voluntary deportee from the United States.

A warrant for his arrest was issued by police last January. It charged him with committing bigamy by going through a form of marriage with Mavis Jean Victoria Gibbeson of Burnaby, while knowing his wife, Audrey Stowell, was still alive.

Stowell's auto was found in the nearby Stave River in four feet of water. His coat was on the front seat and the window on the driver's side of the car was open. At first it was believed he had drowned.

Stowell, who launched a British Columbia Supreme Court action for an audit of the books of Cassiar Asbestos in an attempt to get a share of the mine, was arrested by a U.S. immigration official.

He was working in a combination bar, cafe and gambling establishment. Police met him at Vancouver airport.

Stowell told police he had worked in California and Nevada during last year, never staying in one spot longer than four or five weeks.

The Supreme Court ruled against his Cassiar suit and he entered an appeal, disappearing a few days before the case was to open.

He claimed he discovered

FEEL YOUNG AGAIN

By LELORD KORDEL

Morning Fatigue Is a Warning

One of the complaints most often voiced by people who visit my office is:

"I have to be dragged out of bed in the morning."

They frequently add: "I can't move until I get a cup of coffee."

I looked at a pale-faced man of 40 who had just made this comment. His pallor and symptoms suggested low blood pressure, and I told him so.

The exhaustion of early morning, that "chore" of getting out of bed, lasted until his blood pressure could be increased by the stimulus of coffee.

WARNING SIGN

Morning fatigue is a warning sign! If you wake up exhausted, it may very well be low blood pressure!

Circulating blood's chief function is to supply oxygen and nutritive elements to billions of tiny cells that make up all body structures, and to remove waste matter from these same cells.

In a sense, this can be likened to the plumbing system in your home.

Low water pressure would not keep the plumbing in your house operating properly; neither will low blood pressure allow for normal activity.

PEP IN A MONTH

How many of you feel tired in the morning, but peppy at night? Even when you're not headed for a party?

This is such a common complaint that Dr. Bernard Watson decided to investigate the cause by studying 200 patients who had this condition. He discovered that a lazy thyroid gland was the biggest troublemaker.

Disturbances of the thyroid gland are generally cases of too little or too much secretion. The thyroid is the metronome that ticks off your tempo of living. Not only does the thyroid regulate rate of speed at which we live, but also the amount of food fuel needed to keep our mechanism operating.

The adult who is deficient in thyroid secretion (hypothyroidism) becomes dull, lethargic, and coarse-skinned and puffy in appearance.

He is so listless and lacking in energy that he is unable to stay awake for more than short periods at a time.

For all of you who would like your days to begin earlier, I recommend that you nourish your thyroid into better functioning.

The thyroid, located in the neck, immediately in front of the windpipe, manufactures an iodine-rich hormone called thyroxine.

THYROID RUNS ENERGY

So important is the thyroid gland's influence upon our entire body that, once every hour, our entire volume of blood passes through it to become recharged with its vitalizing hormone.

The person with a normally active thyroid is quick-thinking, fast-moving, ambitious and energetic.

Perhaps the only difference between the president of a bank and its janitor is merely a few grains of thyroid hormone!

So essential to normal life is this thyroid hormone that a few milligrams, one way or the other, often means the difference between intelligence and idiocy.

Kelp tablets, usually sold in health-food stores, provide an inexpensive source of organic iodine for the thyroid gland.

Because it is so inexpensive—yet so important—it is a wise precaution on everyone's part to use at least one kelp tablet daily!

Other good food sources of organic iodine are radishes, watercress, lemons, egg yolk, and, of course, all salt-water fish.

By maintaining constant nutrition of your thyroid gland through a plentiful supply of proteins, vitamins and minerals you can control this exhaustion of your surplus energy which causes fatigue, depression and discouragement, with its consequent loss of vitality.

Next: Youth begins at breakfast.

A Howler On CD Howlers

By AB KENT

Someone in army stores must be anti-Tocsin.

They sent the wrong size howler sirens to Victoria for erection before next Monday's Tocsin B national emergency exercise.

But army engineers here said today that even if the proper sirens do not arrive and are not set up this week, there will be plenty of noise from the existing smaller sirens.

A spokesman said the sirens sent here to complete the public warning system are of the proper horsepower—10—but are the wrong size and voltage.

They were to have been in place at nine Greater Victoria locations, on buildings or poles from Royal Oak to the Douglas building.

Spotted in between would be the existing five horsepower sirens, making a total 32 wailers for Greater Victoria.

A single 10-HP model was to be erected at Duncan.

Sites for the big ones are: St. Patrick's Church; Carriek; Government at Superior; B.C. Electric building; Nelles Block; HMCS Naden; Broadmead at Palo Alto; Growers' Wine Co.; Quadra at Reynolds; Shawnee Road, Royal Oak.

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—The bodies of two little girls were found Monday in the wreckage of an airplane on a snow-covered ridge near here. The plane crashed Sunday while attempting to land during a snow storm. Killed were Laurie Lee Bond, two, and Tracy Lynn Bond, one, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson R. Bond of Baytown, Tex. The parents and the pilot of the chartered plane, James L. Stover, of Houston, Tex., survived.

In an Age of Specialists, the RCAF Keeps Pace

assistance to merchant shipping to investigating reports of unidentified submarines off our coast. Sequence of photos shows some of the crew members at their jobs high in the sky during a recent large-scale anti-submarine exercise by the 407 Maritime Patrol Squadron. In photo next to the

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

A reader complains that his wife always insists on choosing his clothes. "It's about time women were banned from men's tailoring shops," says this sturdy masculinist. I mentioned this to several other men, and one said: "I'm all for letting them get on with it. Being stock size, I don't need to be measured for clothes. I just send my wife for them."

What next? Prophetic words from our files of 48 years ago: "Vancouver city council discussed a resolution calling for the setting aside of $500,000 each year from now until 1919 for the purchase of the B.C. Electric by the city."

"Why are they always pulling down old houses?" asked 71-year-old William F. Bruskey.

We were standing outside a sturdy red brick house at 2543 Government, near the Roundabout. It is being demolished to make way for a new car lot and the bricks are being sold to the public.

Mr. Bruskey, I discovered, has a special interest in the old place.

"I helped build that house more than 50 years ago," he said. "I was working for old Billy Worthington, who put some fine houses in this district."

"Why pull down a building like this when it's sound as a bell?" he asked sadly.

The reason seems to be that sites are now more valuable than houses.

New Honor for Victoria: I hear that Len Woodhouse will become supreme councillor for North America of the United Commercial Travellers when this fraternal insurance organization meets in Cincinnati next July.

He is now supreme junior councillor.

Kenneth King, manager of the Hotel Douglas, is conductor of Victoria Council 434, with William Gornall as senior councillor.

The Travellers' special charity is retarded children.

Just back from England, Victor Beale of 2123 Richmond witnessed an unusual anniversary at Blackheath, near London. Seems they put on a special game to celebrate the 100th birthday of field hockey—believed to be the father of Canadian ice hockey.

It was played in the style of 1961 when hockey was a wild and woolly affair. The players wore the garb of those days—cloth caps, stockings, shorts and shirts—and the sticks were bits of oak bent by steam.

"There were no silly restrictions such as not being able to raise the stick above the shoulder," says Mr. Beale, "and if an opponent got between you and the ball, that was his lookout."

CENOTAPH at Legislative Buildings will be scene of Victoria service in remembrance of war dead this Saturday. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

THEY'LL FIRE BOTH BARRELS

The official opposition will have a new double-barrelled name at the next session of the B.C. legislature which opens Jan. 25.

The 16 MLAs under Opposition Leader Robert Strachan will perpetuate the last trace of the CCF in this province.

Officially the CCF is dead, replaced by the New Democratic Party.

But the MLAs want to be known as CCF-NDP.

The old CCF caucus decided that as its members were elected in 1960 under the CCF banner, they should retain the name until the next election.

Oak Bay Bids For Extended Marina Lease

Oak Bay will ask the B.C. cabinet for a special concession allowing a lease beyond the 20-year limit for its proposed new marina development at Turkey Head.

Because of this latest turn in/boathouse negotiations it is unlikely ratepayers will have the opportunity to vote on a proposed marina at this year's election, Dec. 7.

Parks committee chairman Coun. Gordon Elworthy said, "It is too important to everybody, not only Oak Bay. The boathouse is going to be with us for a long time. Council does not want to rush on this."

Council wishes to demolish the existing 50-year-old Oak Bay Boathouse, replacing it with a modern marine facility.

CLOSED MEETING

Decision to request a longer lease was made at a closed meeting of council Monday night when the parks committee made its first report to council on talks it has had with two would-be developers.

Coun. Elworthy said he hoped the plan council chooses would be presented for ratepayers' approval early in the new year.

Three proposals have been made to the parks committee, ranging from a $60,000 scheme to one costing more than $1,000,000.

LOW MAN OUT

The municipal engineer had estimated roughly that a new development would cost at least $220,000, which apparently eliminates the lowest bid.

All proposals were to take place over a period of three to five years. One is based on alternative leases of 20 and 30 years, and the most expensive plan counts on a 60-year lease.

"We feel we have an isolated situation in Oak Bay," Coun. Elworthy explained on the matter of asking for a longer lease.

"As soon as we have that answer we will know how to proceed. But to have it answered by the 27th of this month (nomination day) would be somewhat rushed."

Five Services to Honor War Dead

Remembrance Day services will be held throughout Greater Victoria next Saturday, Nov. 11.

Government, civic and church officials, with veterans of two world wars and the Korean War, will march to the Cenotaph in front of the Legislative Buildings for a service at 11 a.m.

The service will be conducted by Brig. the Ven. J. W. Forth, former chaplain-general to the Canadian armed forces.

Afterwards there will be a march past the Empress Hotel with Rear Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, taking the salute.

PIONEER SQUARE

Following the ceremony at the Cenotaph, members of the regiment, the cadet corps and the association will proceed to Pioneer Square, next to Christ Church Cathedral, where a memorial service will be held in memory of those of the regiment who did not return.

Esquimalt's remembrance service in Memorial Park, opposite the Municipal Hall, will also be held at 11 a.m. Esquimalt Legion Boys' Pipe Band and Victoria Musicians' Band will take part and Capt. Erik Revfem, RCN, will take the salute in a march past.

Ceremonies in Saanich and Oak Bay will both be held at 3 p.m.

Choice Asked In Plebiscite

Ald. A. W. Toone today said city voters should have a choice of City Hall proposals on their ballots Dec. 14.

Council is expected Thursday to formally order a plebiscite on proposed acquisition of the B.C. Hydro building for $660,000 as a new City Hall.

Ald. Toone said he feels that the ballot should also contain a question on whether the people would prefer construction of an entirely new City Hall building on Blanshard opposite the new Law Courts building.

He said the Hydro building probably would cost a total of $800,000 when renovations were added and it "still would not be a tailor-made building."

A new City Hall building probably would cost about $1,500,000, he estimated.

"I'm not saying the Hydro building would not make a good City Hall but I do say that the people should have a choice to vote for."

The former will take place at the memorial on Shelbourne and will be conducted by Archbishop Harold Sexton. At the same time the memorial and the Shelbourne Street of trees will be rededicated to the dead of three wars.

Service in Oak Bay will be held at the memorial in Up-lands (if wet, in Oak Bay United Church) and will be conducted by Rev. H. J. Jones, St. Mary's Anglican Church.

'I Fired, Then I Heard Groan'

Hunter Tells How Brother Met Death

A Langford hunter whose rifle shot killed his brother in an accident Monday told today how he tried three times to fell a deer he and his brother spotted last week.

Unknown to each other, both men apparently stalked the same deer in the hours leading up to the late forenoon shooting in almost perpendicular terrain northwest of Colwood.

John Albert Hamer, 36, was dead when landed at Royal Jubilee Hospital just before 2 p.m. by a V.I. Helicopter Ltd. craft.

MOUTH-TO-MOUTH

His brother Herbert, 32, had kept him alive for 2½ hours on a mountainside near Happy Valley, breathing mouth-to-mouth.

Colwood RCMP said there had been no decision on whether a charge would be laid.

Coroner Dr. J. H. Moore said he was still collecting evidence, but thought that an inquest would be ordered.

He has consulted the attorney-general's department.

IN CHEST

John Hamer died as a result of a 30-30 bullet wound in the right chest.

He had been hunting alone and was in a patch of brush into which a buck deer stalked by a separate hunting party—Herbert Hamer, 3377 Brownie, Bill Arthur and Roy Best, both of 3817 Saul—had run as the three-man party approached.

Herbert fired at the brush where he had last seen the deer. The shot felled John Hamer.

"I was out Friday night with my brother for an hour and a half and I had only two shots at the deer," Herbert explained.

The two men had seen plenty of deer signs and this particular buck in the area about three miles west of Happy Valley Road near Baxter.

"LONG SHOT"

On Sunday Herbert Hamer went out with friends.

"I had quite a long shot at it. I had five more shots at it and I went back on Monday feeling sure I would have a good chance at it on a weekday when the woods would not be crowded."

Apparently John Hamer had the same idea.

His wife left their home early to go to work. John went hunting apparently without telling anyone else.

Herbert, meanwhile, went into the bush early, "by 7 a.m.," Roy Best said.

THICK BRUSH

"Herb and I met after spooking a deer. We were both going through thick brush after him and we were to meet at the top of a hill."

"We were about 50 feet apart. He got to the hill before me and I was about 10 feet from the cleared rock and about 40 feet from Herb."

"He yelled to see if anyone was down in the thick brush to make sure it wasn't another hunter."

"Then I heard a shot and a

Dread Disease Hits Island Chicken Flock

Vancouver Island's $3,000,000 poultry industry was warned today to take steps to prevent the spread of an outbreak of Newcastle disease which has already affected a flock of 2,700 birds and threatens many others.

Harry Pope, B.C. poultry commissioner, said the outbreak of the dreaded disease is not serious, but much damage could be prevented if poultry raisers, who have not yet vaccinated their birds, do so immediately.

(The disease kills young chicks and stops older hens from laying.)

"SPOTTY"

It broke out six months ago, Mr. Pope said, and has been spotty.

He said there is no connection between the disease and a two-cent increase on a dozen eggs this week. It has not affected egg production to any great extent.

He said egg prices have gone up because flocks were drastically cut down six months ago when birds were over-producing and prices low.

ASK THE TIMES

Q: Could you please tell me the origin of the popular song "The Green Hills of Tyrol"? C.W.

A: "The Green Hills of Tyrol," now popularized as a song entitled "The Scottish Soldier," was originally a piece of pipe music. It is still played in highland regiments as a retreat.

Q: What makes shoe and floor polish work? J.T.P.

A: Most polishes are made from a mixture of some kind of wax—beeswax, paraffin wax, or palm wax—and a liquid or solvent for easy application. When the polish is allowed to dry, the liquid evaporates, leaving a hard coating of wax which polishes easily when rubbed.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on art, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Motorist Absolved In Traffic Fatality

A coroner's jury today brought in a verdict of accidental death in the fatal injury to a Victoria man Saturday night.

Absolved of blame in the accident was the driver of the car, William Corbett, HMCS New Glasgow, which struck Charles Fletcher Marshall, Lincoln Hotel, while he was crossing Esquimalt Road in the 800 block.

The jury took less than 15 minutes to bring in its decision.

Dr. Garth Walther, St. Joseph's Hospital, said that death was caused by multiple traumatic injuries leading to fatal haemorrhaging.

Witnesses to the accident, which occurred at 10 p.m. Saturday night, said that Mr. Marshall was staggering across the road with his head down when he was hit.

He had fallen down previously at the curb and a driver had stopped and helped him to his feet.

The accident victim then walked a little further along the street and tried to cross Esquimalt Road 173 feet east of the crosswalk.

He was hit when he had just passed the centre line.

Despite the fact the weather was dry and clear, witnesses said the victim was wearing dark clothes, and the lighting in the area was not too good.

DEAR ABBY...

It's Not That Easy, Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been married 15 years and have nine children. I love my husband more than words can express. A few weeks ago he came home and told me he didn't love me any more, and that he found somebody else. He said it all started years ago when I wouldn't go out with him. I did sort of stay around the house because the children needed me and, besides, I was always pregnant. Now he wants out. He says he can't support two homes. Please tell me what to do. I am 32 and he is 33. NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: Small wonder he can't support two homes when one home has nine children. No matter what he is, he is yours. Hang onto him.

DEAR ABBY: In the midst of my happiness, I have a problem. I recently became engaged to a wonderful man and am planning my wedding. My father is a minister, and I know that he has always wanted to officiate at my wedding. The man I am going to marry is the son of a minister. I have known his father many years and have grown to love him almost as much as my own father. I would like very much for my future father-in-law to perform my marriage ceremony, but I don't want to hurt my own father's feelings. Is there any way this could tactfully be arranged?

TO BE WED

DEAR TO BE: Your father and future father-in-law can share in the ceremony. But out of respect to your own father, do give him the lion's share.

DEAR ABBY: A relative of mine has a little 10-year-old boy who plays with dolls and doll clothes. He has never had a cowboy outfit, toy truck or car. He likes to dress up in his mother's high heels and hats, and play with the seven and eight-year-old neighbor girls. He never wants to play any sports. Last year his school teacher called up his mother and tactfully suggested that she take him to a doctor. The mother replied, "Don't be silly. He has never even had a cold." How do you wise up a mother like that?

DISTANT RELATIVE

DEAR DISTANT: Better get a little closer for the boy's sake. How about talking to the boy's father? This family needs help, not criticism.

DEAR ABBY: The lady who signed herself "Lucky" when she put out a grease fire in her kitchen with "a few handfuls of flour and cornmeal" doesn't know how lucky she was. Flour and cornmeal can explode when thrown on a fire. A better way to extinguish a grease fire is quickly to place a lid or something similar over the burning grease. And please mention that water should never be thrown on burning grease as the grease will float on the water, continue to burn, and you'll be in worse shape than before. Sincerely, VIC JONES, YOUR FRIENDLY FIREMAN

SHOPPING GUIDE

Get Into the Spirit... But Watch Your Health

By PENNY SAVER

My Dear Sister:

Hope you're watching out for dat ole debbil cold! With rainy weather upon us and the rush and fuss of Christmas right straight ahead, now is the time to take precautions. I know of a liquid vitamin supplement on the market, priced within the reach of family economy. It contains vitamins B12, C, D, A, B1, B6 and many others and comes in 16-ounce bottles at $3; 8-oz. at $1.75 and four-oz. at $1.25.

A Christmas gift that will delight the brides-to-be we know is European cut glass. Honey jars and covered butter dishes feature delicate patterns, and come in several shapes. And, speaking of shapes, vinegar and oil bottles come in several attractive ones with lovely designs on them. There are many other dishes, too, truly suitable for our young friends to add to their hope chests. And, only $1.95 each.

Giving a record to someone? Maybe an expensive long play? Why not add a little something that will ensure more listening pleasure and will make the record last longer. It's a record cleaner that is anti-static, keeps records clean and reduces surface noise. All you do is spray it on and wipe the excess off with a pad that is included in the purchase price of $1.49 for a 5-ounce tin.

Tie a ribbon on this one and attach it to your gift-wrapped parcel.

I know you're terribly busy, so I'll keep you posted from now until Christmas on anything and everything I find that would make nice gifts. Maybe I can save you a little time when you go shopping.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't Strick Your Neck Out—It Will Look Older Than You

When a woman sticks her neck out, she is asking for trouble! The chinline is one of the very first spots to herald the passing of early youth, and poor posture certainly speeds the process.

Too often a face looks 30 or 40 and a neck 50 or 60, both owned by the same woman.

If you collapse at the base of the neck and carry your chin forward, you will get deep creases in the neck and stretch the muscles under the chin, thus causing the blurred outline of a middle-aged neck. If the muscles have become relaxed and the neck creased because of poor posture, you can do something about it. You can exercise tone into the muscles and arrest the crease by improving the way you hold your head. Try the following:

Stand tall. Drop your head forward toward the chest. Place a ruler at the back of the neck, one end at the base of the skull. Raise the head very slowly, trying to press each individual vertebra against the ruler. Hold for a few seconds and then relax. Drop the head forward and continue.

Try to hold the head in the position it takes when each vertebra or most vertebra are touching the ruler.

Of course if you are overweight, a double chin or several double chins will spoil your neckline. Lose the extra pounds and do the following exercise: Lower the head backward as far as comfortable. Keep the head in this position while you chew in an exaggerated manner. Raise head. Rest. Continue.

If you would like to have my exercises for the chinline, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 10 in care of this newspaper. Address Josephine Lowman.

HAIR CLIPS HELP IN SEWING ROOM

One of my pressing boards is being awarded to Mrs. Eleanor G. Wylie, Plymouth, Mich., for this suggestion: Bring your hair clips to the sewing room!

1. Clip your pattern together to avoid losing the pieces.
2. Clip the hem in your dresses, both to mark it and to eliminate much basting.
3. Clip unused pattern pieces to the curtain to prevent loss or tearing.
4. Clip the instruction sheet to the curtain or drape near your sewing machine for easy reference.

These are only a few of the many ways clips may be used to serve the seamstress.

Debutante List Grows

Names of five young ladies have been added to the coterie of debutantes to be presented to His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes at annual ball of the United Services Institution of Vancouver Island in the Empress Hotel on Nov. 24.

They are Miss Jennifer Lockyer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Lockyer, 2470 Lansdowne Road, who will be sponsored by Col. R. D. Travis; Miss Sheila Bovey, daughter of Commander J. Bovey and Mrs. Bovey, 899 Hotham Street, whose sponsor will be her father; Miss Heather Bridgman, daughter of Mrs. M. A. W. Bridgman and the late Lt.-Cmdr. Bridgman, to be sponsored by Capt. J. D. Prentice.

Miss Virginia Price, daughter of Lt.-Col. H. E. C. Price and Mrs. Price, 2099 Mayne Avenue, will be sponsored by her father, and Miss Beverley Joan Sinclair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sinclair, 3351 Cedar Hill Road, will be sponsored by Major G. W. Archer.

From Mainland

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Ord and family and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hall and family came from Vancouver to attend the wedding of Miss Marie Bishop and Mr. Lawrence McPherson in James Bay United Church. Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. and Mr. William Kietzke and Mrs. and Mr. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. A. Harbison of Gibsons, B.C., and A. Carson, Kamloops.

Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Valcourt were honored in their North Park Avenue home on Saturday evening at a surprise celebration planned to mark their 25th wedding anniversary. They were married in Alberta and have lived in Victoria for seven years. Following a dinner for members of the family, an open house was held for friends and relatives.

Prizes Awarded at Bazaar

Food, food and more food was displayed and later eaten, at a smorgasbord held in connection with St. Andrew's Cathedral bazaar in the Chinese Mission hall on Saturday.

Called upon by Chef Emile to enter favorite dishes in a contest, women of the parish offered a large number of delicious, tantalizing dishes to be judged.

Judges were Dennis Hartman and Chef Emile. Winners were as follows: First prize for her ravioli, Mrs. J. Logies; second prize for a "hot pot" casserole, Mrs. R. J. Caldwell; third prize, Miss M. Longpre for chili con carne. In the baked beans class Mrs. G. Hewitt took first and Mrs. S. Janis, second. Mrs. J. Tronte received second for cabbage rolls and Mrs. F. Lessard third prize for a macaroni dish.

Tables were centred with sweet pickles held on half oranges with toothpicks. Seated at the head table, which was set with heirloom china and silver belonging to Mrs. G. Larrigan and decorated with a large arrangement of white chrysanthemums, were Most Rev. Bishop J. M. Hill, Msgr. A. J. McLellan, Msgr. J. L. Bradley, Fr. D. Johnson, Fr. B. Hanley, Fr. W. Hill, Br. J. O'Keefe, G. Larrigan, G. P. Thompson and G. A. Thompson.

The bazaar, opened by Mme. Y. F. Terrien in the afternoon, was highly successful. Among its features were a Carnival House of Fun, fancywork, baking and home cooking, babywear, white elephant, candy and religious article stalls.

Fathers, mothers, sons and daughters all are helping to make a success of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Christmas bazaar and tea planned for Kirk Hall, 680 Courtney Street, Saturday, November 18, from 2 to 5 p.m. Among workers are, Mrs. Daryl Elford, convener and guild president; Miss Anne Clayton of Canadian Girls in Training; Jack Joseph, St. Andrew's Fourth Fort Victoria Scout Troop, and J. B. Weatherdon, tea maker extraordinary of the Couples Club. There will be stalls of home cooking, candy, aprons, knitted articles, miscellaneous and novelty gifts, pot holders, church calendars and groceries. Tea will be served.

Wedding Gown of White Chiffon

White nylon chiffon in floor-length formed exquisite gown worn by Marie Isabelle Bishop for her marriage to Lawrence Allan McPherson in James Bay United Church. Mother of pearl sequins edged the Sabrina neckline and lace appliques were on either side of front panel of full skirt. Sleeves ended in lily points. Waist-length veil, edged in seed pearls, flared from a coronet of mother-of-pearl sequins and seed pearls. Apricot roses and chrysanthemums were in her bouquet.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bishop, 1036 Munro Street, and Mr. and Mrs. James McPherson, 1825 Fairfield Road. Mr. Bishop gave his daughter in marriage.

Autumn-toned chrysanthemums decorated the church cake that centred the head table.

Mexico Honeymoon Follows Recent Marriage

Now honeymooning in California and Mexico are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ernest Chambers whose marriage took place on Saturday in St. Mary's Anglican Church. The bride, the former Margo Jean Colak, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Colak, 1431 St. Patrick Street. Groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Chambers, 1971 Lee Avenue.

Red Delight roses, tiny yellow roses and white carnations decorated the church for the ceremony at which Canon H. J. Jones officiated. White carnations marked guests' pews. Charles Palmer was organist and soloist was Miss Kathleen Paulin.

Entering the church on her father's arm, the bride wore a white satin floor-length gown styled on classic lines with bell skirt, chapel train and lily point sleeves. A pearl tiara held the shoulder-length veil of silk net. Red Delight roses were in the bouquet and "something borrowed" was a pearl necklace belonging to the groom's mother.

Bell-skirted gowns in rose and white were chosen by maid of honor, Miss Patricia Paterson and bridesmaids, Miss Sheila MacPhail and Miss Anna Colak, cousin of the bride. Full-skirted dress in same shade was worn by junior bridesmaid Kathleen Colak, another cousin of the bride. All carried colonial bouquets of sweetheart roses.

Martin Chambers was best man for his brother and ushering guests were Robert Freer and Robert Anderson. Red roses decorated tables at a reception held in Holyrood House. Peter Froehlich proposed the toast to the bride. As her going-away ensemble

At Least Once in a Lifetime

By Harrison J. Cowan MONTREAL—The process of growing up seems to be marked with a procession of watches—the toy watch as a child; the graduation watch; watches received on sundry gift occasions. But most of us still hope to own not just another watch, but the finest watch obtainable. The desire is not vanity, but reflects an inward awareness of the sacred nature of time, the measure of life itself.

How do you find such a watch? Jewels alone are not enough; nor "specifications" such as shockproof, waterproof, anti-magnetic, etc. These are found in the cheapest watches.

LONGINES ADMIRAL 1222. Fashionably thin, one-piece case and pressure-sealed crystal protect the precious self-winding Longines movement from damage by water or moisture. Shock-resistant, anti-magnetic, sweep hand, day and night dial. Steel, gold-filled or 14K gold, $115 to $200.

RCMP Arson Arrests Mounting

(Compiled From CP)

NELSON — The widening RCMP search for bombers and arsonists in southeast British Columbia netted nine more arrests in the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor stronghold of Krestova Monday.

Total arrests made in the last five days now number 12, all suspects being charged either with arson or with unlawful possession of dynamite in relation to terrorist activities which have plagued West Kootenay district this year.

Seven men appeared in magistrate's court Monday charged with attempted arson. Two young men appeared in city court charged with unlawful possession of explosives.

Nelson RCMP questioned three teenage girls in connection with a bomb found in the Trail post office and an explosion in a Trail department store last spring.

A fourth girl is reported to have given a statement to Trail RCMP concerning the Trail bombs.

Among the suspects appearing before Stipendiary Magistrate William Evans Monday was Bill F. Babakoff, a member of the Fraternal Council of Reformed Doukhobors, the executive body of the sect.

To handle the large influx of prisoners, the RCMP has been forced to employ the old provincial jail quarters, now the city police station.

Police said more arrests are expected, as several of the recent suspects have made detailed confessions of their participation in the night time deeds.

Police are also wary of a repeat of 1950, when some 400 Sons of Freedom confessed, some falsely, to terrorist activities. At that time there were nude demonstrations throughout the area.

FLUORIDATION

PENTICTON — The council Monday decided to hold a fluoridation plebiscite. The action was taken after delegations from the area medical association, dental society and health unit called for addition of fluorides to the city water supply. The vote will be held in December.

TEACHERS' SALARIES

VANCOUVER — Agreement on teachers' salaries has been reached at 56 British Columbia schools. Twenty-six other teacher groups will begin conciliation with their school boards on their salaries.

WINS TROPHY

VERNON — The city Monday won the Okanagan United Appeal Trophy in its first year of competition by exceeding its $30,000 by almost $1,000. Kelowna and district was 15 per cent short of its $30,350 target and Penticton had about $19,500 collected toward its quota of $25,000.

SEEK DRIVER

VERNON — RCMP are seeking the driver of a car that hit a 61-year-old woman on a downtown street Friday night and left her unconscious. Mrs. Ida Tronson was still unconscious with a fractured skull and other injuries Monday.

PICKETING CURBED

VANCOUVER — A partial injunction limiting picketing activities of the striking Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union (CLC) in its fight with Taylor, Pearson & Carson (B.C.), Ltd., was granted in the British Columbia Supreme Court Monday.

Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes rejected the company's application to have all picketing halted.

ADMITS HE WAS FOOL

VANCOUVER — A would-be playboy was given a chance to straighten out his life Monday after admitting that he was a fool.

Wayne Arnold, 21, called a smart Alec by his lawyer, was fined $250 for making a gift of two unregistered firearms to two strangers.

Arnold, who inherited $100,000 in June, said in an interview later that he had spent almost $10,000 already.

"I tried to be a rich playboy but ended up a fool," he said.

Scottish to Parade

PORT ALBERNI — The pipes and drums of the Canadian Scottish Regiment will participate in the Nov. 11 Remembrance Day service at Port Alberni.

Lt-Col. P. F. Ramsay, officer commanding, accompanied by Capt. R. H. McCrimmon and Capt. Jim Sutherland, will place a wreath on the war memorial.

TWO ISLANDERS

14 Young Farmers Off to Big Fair

A party of 14 young farm people, two of them from Vancouver Island, left Victoria today to represent B.C. at a national 4-H Club Week opening at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto Saturday.

Vancouver Island delegates are Jacquelyn Rosman, 18, Saanichton, and Rose Couling, Coombs, formerly of Sooke.

They will see the world's largest agricultural show, "the Royal," during their stay in Toronto, and later meet federal government leaders in Ottawa.

In Toronto, they will stay at the Royal York Hotel, headquarters for the 13th National 4-H Club Week. There a total 140 farm boys and girls from Canada's 10 provinces will hold business sessions and discuss farm and agricultural problems.

The theme of the meeting is "4-H and self-realization."

Speakers will include Carl Voss, referee-in-chief, National Hockey League; Inspector J. G. C. Downey, officer in charge of the RCMP musical ride, and Dr. E. J. Tyler, professor in the psychology department of Brandon College.

They are the guests of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs, the national executive of the 70,000-member organization.

The trip is the most coveted award the council can bestow.

NEW PUMPER REQUESTED AT CHEMAINUS

CHEMAINUS — Fire Chief Ray Millard will seek the approval of Chemainus Ratepayers and Citizens' Association to purchase a new "Class A" tilt-cab pumper truck to replace No. 2 truck.

The chief said the replacement would increase the volunteer departments' efficiency, especially in area where there are no hydrants.

He said North Cowichan Municipal Council has assured him there would be no increase in the mill rate and payment for the new truck would be covered in the 1962 budget.

The department also agreed not to take pay until the necessary loan of $8,000 down payment for the new truck is paid off.

The new truck would cost $20,000.

According to Dr. A. Dekker the boy was extremely fortunate as the bullet "missed all the big blood vessels."

'Why Doesn't Anybody Smile?'

LONDON (AP)—Willy Repetto, a man from the past, stared uncomprehendingly as traffic and people swirled around Piccadilly Circus in a non-stop roar.

Things were a lot different back home on Tristan da Cunha.

"I can hardly believe such a place could exist," he said. "But why is everybody in such a hurry? and why doesn't anybody seem to smile?"

Repetto, 59, is chief of the 262 men, women and children who fled the lonely South Atlantic island after it was stricken by an erupting volcano.

They came 6,500 miles to the land of their forefathers to start life again.

For Repetto and most of the others the trip to Capetown, South Africa, and then to Britain gave them their first chance to see a train, ride in a car, speak on the telephone.

The entire population set up new homes in 20 whitewashed brick huts formerly used by the army territorial service as a training site. Some came to London to see more of the new world they had entered.

Repetto found London a nice place to visit, "but I wouldn't want to live here."

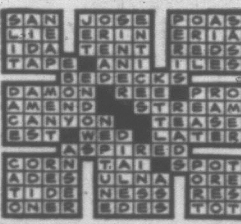

Adam Swain bounced like a child in his first auto ride, then joined Britons at a pub for a beer and said it was "just as I imagined, warm and friendly."

At 25, he could look ahead: "Tristan is all over. We must start afresh. Perhaps when we have settled down we will never want to leave. Perhaps the volcano really did us a favor."

600-Mile Fence For Animal Park

UNDA MELIA, South Africa (CP)—A 600-mile fence encircling South Africa's Kruger National Park will be completed this fall at a cost of $1,500,000.

The purpose: To keep poachers out and keep game inside the 8,000-square-mile preserve. Barbed-wire strands of the six-foot-high barrier are expected to be strong enough to restrain the smaller game. But a three-quarter-inch steel cable is added to make it strong enough to withstand the charges of elephants, buffalo and wildebeests.

Construction was started two years ago amid concern over what appeared to be the gradual extinction of wild animal life in Africa as birds and beasts retreated from civilization or fell prey to the hunter and poacher.

The park was established 75 years ago to protect the spectacular variety of animal life roaming the wilderness in the northeastern part of South Africa.

During the last 50 years the elephant has doubled to a herd of 1,200. The antelope, near extinction in 1900, now numbers 400. There are more than 2,500 buffalo, 900 lions, 2,500 to 2,800 giraffes and 400 leopards.

Chief purpose of the barrier is to keep animals from roaming into areas where they might be killed by men little concerned with conservation.

Another purpose is to preserve one of South Africa's big tourist attractions. There are 900 miles of dirt road through the park and tourists are permitted to drive their cars along them.

DANGER AT DUSK

They are not permitted to stop except at one of the 12 motel-style camps. And they must check into a camp by 5:30 p.m. as big game often will charge headlights after dusk. Cost of a night's lodgings is $1.50. Meals are 80 cents.

The park gates are locked at night. At dawn, when birds and beasts seem to be at their liveliest, the cars are lined up for the exciting drive.

There is no danger as long as the tourists remain in their cars. A lion may amble down the road a few feet away. Elephants lumber by, heedless of the human visitor. The impala impresses with a 40-foot leap across the road. Monkeys chatter in the trees.

While hunting is not permitted in the park, animals maintain a natural balance.

Mexico Pilots Strike

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico's biggest airline, Aerovias de Mexico, was grounded today by a strike of pilots asking a 22 per cent salary increase. Other flight personnel and ground crews joined in the walkout.

preying on each other, hiding from their enemies, mating and nurturing their young.

Although the fence encloses an area almost four times as large as Prince Edward Island, it is not the largest. Earlier this year Australia completed one 3,500 miles long to pen sheep-killing dingoes into 300,000 square miles of Queensland.

Kenyatta in London

LONDON (Reuters)—Jomo Kenyatta (Reuters)—Jomo Kenyatta arrived by air Monday at the head of a Kenya delegation to press the British government to speed up plans for the independence of the East African colony. Kenyatta is making his first visit to Britain in 14 years.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Judy Garland's head is up for grabs in a hairdressers' battle.

Hair stylist Ernie Adler's "negotiating" about combing Judy's hair for her TV special in Hollywood in 1962. This'll probably reduce hair stylist "Mr. Kenneth," creator of some of the Jackie Kennedy look, to a veritable twit, because he's been dressing Judy's tresses for many of her personal appearances.

Frankly, I don't think this is as important as the stories about the fallout but maybe this fallout will take your mind off of that other one.

Ernie Adler's a bouncy Bostonian of 36 who rushed home the other night to watch two of his hairdos on TV.

They were also the hairdos of Joan Crawford and Julie Harris. In Philadelphia he'll be helping Carol Lawrence design a hairdo for "Subways Are for Sleeping."

"Yes, I've been asked to do Judy's TV show, but now comes the question of fee, off flying to California, and so on," says Ernie, who gets several hundred clams to just comb out a dame's locks.

Ernie'd like to do Judy's head all over again because—well, frankly, now—just here under the dryer, see?—since she's had it done by "Mr. Kenneth," Ernie hasn't liked it as much as he did when Ernie Adler did it.

Ernie's always doing "mad things" with Carol Burnett's hair, or with Rosemary Clooney's pageboy coif, and he says "when you get Faye Emerson in a chignon you can't beat her."

So he says he isn't impressed too much with what "Mr. Kenneth" did with Jackie Kennedy because after all he had Jackie Kennedy to start with.

As for people like Tuesday Weld: "Grrrr..." As for Anna Magnani's hairdos: "Miss Magnani doesn't have her hair done!" Ernie's undoubtedly getting rich with that special way he has of twisting the comb and it's made him proud.

"Some of the Hollywood people expect their hairdressers to run out and do errands for them," Ernie says. "They don't get me to do that. At my fee, I'd be a pretty expensive messenger."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Here we go again! Danny Kaye hopes to do Christmas shows for the USO in Korea and Japan... Nat (King) Cole gets all ages in to hear him at the Copacabana—from Beverly Aadland to Mae Murray... The Lanai is introducing "The Tahitian Twist" plus a "Newie, Newie" rum grog that makes you feel like doing it...

Milton Berle clowning on stage with the Ritz Bros. in their farewell show at the International... Carol Bennett will do "Calamity Jane" as a 30-minute CBS-TV... Arlene Francis'll do "winter stock" in Phoenix... Tony Curtis' two children will be in his "Taras Bulba" film.

Stewart Granger picked up $500,000 for his work in "Sodom and Gomorrah," which took almost a year to film... Frank Sinatra will make an album in London: "Great Songs from Great Britain"... George Jessel's calling his next book "Halo Over Hollywood"... Ralph Taeger's a candidate for the lead in the President Kennedy film bio, "PT Boat 109"... This is show business: Almost 300 applicants auditioned for a single two-minute role in the B'way musical, "Sunday in New York."

Sir Alec Guinness is house-hunting in Ireland... Disk jockey Alan Freed plans to tour the country, giving Twist parties... Joey Grey was asked to repeat his B'way role in "Come Blow Your Horn" in the London company.

EARL'S PEARLS: Making a speech is like spelling "Mississippi"—you have to know when to stop—John Sheffield, Americus, Ga.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A fellow explained his simple new diet—he eats only when someone else is picking up the check.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Space rockets can't be much more expensive than those little cars women push in the supermarkets.—Arnold H. Giesow.

It's Joe E. Lewis' line (reported by Mike Connelly): "I spent a week at a milk farm, and now I know why kids are so nasty." That's Earl, brother.

BATTLE AGAINST SMOG MAN'S BIGGEST JOB?

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Stopping the spread of smog may be mankind's most important task in the 20th century, says Walter Orr Roberts, director of the new United States national centre for atmospheric research being built near Boulder, Colo.

"In the years not too far ahead, we may exercise wilful control of genetic makeup," Roberts told the 31st international meeting of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists Monday.

"We may be able to stamp out disease, or to create it—to make man a better adapted creature of his environment, or a robot."

But, Roberts said, it is a serious question whether the world's population, expected to double by the year 2000, will have enough water to drink or air to breathe.

"If we cannot find a way to control smog," he added, "it may well be a limit on the expansion of civilization."

About 1,200 are attending the conference, which continues through Thursday.

Red Unity Toasted By Chinese

PEKING (Reuters) — Premier Chou En-lai and other Communist Chinese leaders tonight joined Soviet Ambassador S. V. Chernomerkov in toasts to the unity of the Communist camp and Sino-Russian friendship.

The toasts were offered at a reception marking the Soviet Revolution anniversary given by Chernomerkov, who Monday night was received in stony silence by Chinese officials when he attacked Stalinism and Albanian Communists.

Chinese and Soviet officials and foreign diplomats — including Albanians — clinked glasses during the two-hour reception.

APPEAL FOR UNITY

Earlier, newspapers marked the anniversary by printing appeals for unity of the whole Communist camp, including Albania. The appeals were in messages and editorials of Peking newspapers.

The messages from Chinese leaders and an article reproduced from the People's Daily praised the advances made by the Soviet Union since the revolution, paid tribute to its leadership in the Communist camp, and stressed the need to maintain unity.

The newspapers also reported Monday night's meeting here at which Chinese leaders and Communist party officials sat silent, neither smiling nor applauding, as Soviet Ambassador S. V. Chernomerkov repeated the attacks made at last month's Moscow party congress by Soviet Premier Khrushchev on the cult of personality, Stalinism and the Albanian Communist party leaders.

JFK, Nehru In Long Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Nehru of India discussed major world topics, including the Berlin crisis and the problem of nuclear test controls and disarmament, in a 2½-hour talk today.

After the White House meeting, presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger announced that another session would be held here Wednesday.

'3 Million Might Be Killed'

WASHINGTON (CP) — A nuclear attack launched against Canada at night with only 15 minutes warning might kill or injure about one-half the major Canadian urban population, the United States Association of Military Surgeons was told today.

Li-Col. A. C. Hardman, chief of Canada's emergency health services, based his estimate on a potential target in Canada of 12 major cities containing about 7, 100,000 people.

Of these, under the current state of civilian preparedness, "we can expect between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 to be killed and some 1,250,000 to be injured with a high proportion of these trapped in rubble."

Urging a strong bond of partnership between civilian and military agencies for medical care in the event of an emergency, Hardman suggested "with the present state of international tension, the possibility of global war is very real."

Fortunately for Canada, he said, "our government tends to select the remote and barren wastes for the location of the majority of their military bases. Consequently the bulk of our regular forces would be expected to survive as an intact organization."

Mission Fails

KARACHI (AP) — Special United States Envoy Livingston Merchant flew home today, his mission to get Pakistan and Afghanistan together apparently a failure.

Adenauer Wins Slim Majority

BONN (Reuters) — Konrad Adenauer was re-elected today to a fourth term as chancellor by the West German Bundestag (lower house).

The 85-year-old statesman received 258 votes—eight more than necessary for an absolute majority in the 499-member house.

There were 206 votes against Adenauer—15 more votes than the total held by the Social Democrats, the only opposition party to the new coalition government of Adenauer's Christian Democrats and the minority Free Democrats.

Twenty-six members abstained. A further nine members of all three parties were absent.

LOUD APPLAUSE

The announcement of Adenauer's re-election two months before his 86th birthday brought loud applause in the house.

Asked by Speaker Eugen Gerstenmaier whether he accepted the chancellorship, Adenauer replied in a firm voice: "I accept the vote."

Adenauer's re-election came after six weeks' negotiations with the Free Democrats made necessary by his party's loss of its long-held majority in the Bundestag in the Sept. 17 elections.

The Christian Democrats won 242 seats compared with 190 by the Social Democrats. The Free Democrats picked up 67 and held the balance of power.

Earlier today Adenauer smoothed out wrinkles in the coalition agreement despite a resignation threat from his heir-apparent, Economic Minister Ludwig Erhard.

California Fires Raging; Loss Hits $15 Million

WIND-DRIVEN flames roar through private school building in Los Angeles Bel-Air section. Roof of school is tremendous sea of flames as it succumbs to fury of area's worst brush fire disaster. Children had been evacuated. More than 200 homes have been destroyed. (AP Wirephoto.)

Holocaust Threatens New Area

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two disastrous brush fires threatened today to join and burn oceanward on a 10-mile front that officials said would threaten a whole new community—fashionable Pacific Palisades.

The major multi-million-dollar blaze—the worst in southern California history—already had destroyed more than 200 costly homes including those of several members of the movie colony.

Former vice-president Richard Nixon was among those who fled Monday.

A spokesman said the total value of ruined or damaged real estate alone could exceed $15,000,000.

This fire raged out of control today like an ugly, flaming crown in the Hollywood Hills-Santa Monica Mountains range above swank Bel-Air and Brentwood.

Covers Big Area

Eating through Topanga Canyon's explosively dry brush during the night, a companion fire that also broke out Monday moved to within slightly more than a mile of the Bel-Air fire.

The Topanga fire had raged through 4,000 acres, the Bel-Air through 3,200. Only Rustic Canyon, which has a few expensive homes, separated the two.

Officials said the fires probably will join, forming a 10-mile flaming front. If they continue burning southward, all of heavily populated Pacific Palisades, near the ocean, would be in danger. The two fires already were only three or four miles from that community.

24 Bombers Used

"We are making full preparations for the worst," said Keith Klinger, county fire chief.

Men and equipment in large numbers moved into the southern end of the Topanga Canyon holocaust. Twenty-four bombers, 12 for each fire, were loaded for daylight bombing of the flames with a fire-retarding borate solution.

Minor injuries to 10 firemen in the Bel-Air fire were reported.

More than 2,000 persons had

W. Germany Drops Charge Against Slav

MUNICH (AP)—Charges of murdering Nazi soldiers in occupied Yugoslavia were dropped today against former partisan Lazo Vracaric. The West German government apologized for his arrest on a 1941 warrant.

Officials returned Vracaric's Yugoslav passport and told him the case against him has been wiped off the books. His arrest here last Tuesday while on a business trip had brought a wave of protests from officials and veterans' groups abroad, particularly from countries that were occupied by the Nazis.

Vracaric, 44, was released from jail Monday night. He refused to appear in person today, contending his wartime activities were no concern of German justice, and sent two lawyers in his stead.

The Nazi arrest order, which local officials in Konstanz dug up, charged that Vracaric and other partisans were involved in the 1941 ambush slaying of two German soldiers. Legal officials said investigation of the case proved Vracaric could not be charged with murder since he was a soldier in a regular army.

WIRE BRIEFS

New Cuban Charges

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban authorities claimed today the breakup of a major underground movement and accused the Venezuelan and Italian embassies of actively helping insurgents try to overthrow Premier Castro's regime.

Congo Whites Strike

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — The Congolese government today sent investigators to the terrorized provincial town of Luluabourg where the entire European population is reported on strike fearing new outbreaks of anti-white rioting.

Strike Seen Fizzle

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A three-day general strike called by Argentina's powerful central labor confederation to start today appeared to fizzle. However, violence was reported throughout the country.

Finns Send Envoy

HELSINKI (AP) — The Finnish government announced today it is sending Foreign Minister Ahti Karjalainen to Moscow for preliminary contacts on a Soviet note calling for joint defence measures against what the Kremlin called mounting military threat from West Germany and its NATO allies.

Queen Will Be Safe U.K. Official Finds

ACCRA (Reuters) — Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys, reported by reliable sources to be ready to recommend that Queen Elizabeth go ahead with her projected 11-day visit to internally troubled Ghana Thursday, left by plane today for London.

The British minister had made a pre-royal visit inspection tour here. Sandys and President Kwame Nkrumah covered the route planned for the Queen.

They also inspected a statue of Nkrumah damaged in a weekend bomb blast.

Nkrumah today showed Sandys a life-size statue of the Ghana president, the feet of which were damaged in a bomb blast Saturday, and commented:

"It's a wonder it did not fall over."

In London, meanwhile, Prime Minister Macmillan announced he will call his cabinet into session Wednesday to decide whether the Queen should go ahead with her visit. (Aides said Macmillan will drive to Buckingham Palace after the cabinet meeting to give his final advice to the Queen.)

(The decision will be announced to the Commons later in the day.)

NKRUMAH
... makes tour

Sandys, sent here Monday to study conditions and report to the British government, replied: "I am glad you have taken the trouble to show me this."

Large crowds cheered wildly as Nkrumah and the Briton, in an open car flanked by police outriders, made a two-hour tour of the Queen's route.

TARGETS

(Some London newspapers commented that Sandys and Nkrumah, in touring Accra were deliberately setting themselves up as "targets for assassins.")

(The influential Guardian said member countries of the Commonwealth should decide whether the Queen carries out the tour.)

(The Guardian points out that the Queen heads a Commonwealth that includes eight countries, among them Canada, which accept her as sovereign, and four republics, which accept her as symbolic head of the Commonwealth.)

(The decision on her trip "should come from a number of them.")

WALL DAMAGED

One bomb in Accra exploded at the Kwame Nkrumah Circle, named after Ghana's president, and slightly damaged a wall.

Four hours earlier a bomb went off in a bush near the national lotteries building and police reported that several unexploded time bombs were found nearby.

A full-scale manhunt was launched for the perpetrators and massive security measures have been stepped up for the Royal visit.

The measures have been rated as adequate by British officials here, most of whom believe there is no special danger in the visit despite the three explosions.

Revolt Ends In Ecuador

QUITO, Ecuador (CP) — A military uprising by an army engineers regiment objecting to the arrest of leftist Vice-President Carlos Julio Arosemena was beaten down by loyal government troops today in a seven-hour battle in the southern part of Quito.

Arosemena, who denounced President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra for violating the constitution, and the nine legislators were arrested after bloody rioting against the government resulted in 11 persons killed and 14 injured.

MARSHAL TWICE FIGHTS WAY INTO LIMELIGHT

Soviet Founder, Disgraced, Ignores Snubs

(Times News Services)
MOSCOW — Marshal Klement Voroshilov, disgraced former president of the Soviet Union, broke away from a security guard tonight and made his way to the head table at a reception marking the anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution.

Voroshilov, one of the founders of the Communist state in Russia, argued his way past

security men barring the entrance to the head tables after being turned away earlier today from the Lenin mausoleum reviewing stand for the parade celebrating the anniversary.

The white-haired 80-year-old marshal, with two Orders of Lenin on a lapel of his double-breasted blue suit, brushed aside an embarrassed aide de camp who had apparently been appointed to keep an eye on him at the Kremlin reception.

The aide de camp, a young major, pursued the former president but failed to catch him before he reached Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan at the head table.

He then grabbed a glass of wine from a passing waiter and clinked glasses with Mikoyan and the Red Chinese ambassador.

Other members of the Communist party presidium also accepted toasts from the marshal.

Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov came up to exchange a few words with him but Premier Khrushchev was some distance away talking with other guests.

After a brief period in the area reserved for top guests, the young army major took Voroshilov firmly by the elbow and steered him out past the guards. The former president then took his place among the ordinary guests at the reception.

The marshal, who has been among those taking the salute from atop the tomb every year since the parades began, was denounced at the recent 22nd congress of the Soviet Communist party as a Stalinist.

He apologized for his sins and Premier Khrushchev said he forgave him. But forgive-

Alberta to B.C. Pipeline For Iron Ore Under Study

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

An imaginative proposal for pipelining iron ore from north-west Alberta deposits to tide-water at either Kitimat or Prince Rupert is under investigation by Premier Steel Mills Ltd. of Edmonton.

Conceived as a $15 million project, the line would take the ore from the Worsley area, southwest of Fort St. John down to Prince George and then over to the coast, generally following the PGE and CNR routes.

Presumably, the ore would be concentrated at the mine site before being mixed with water to form a pumpable "slurry" which could be pipelined the 400-odd miles to tide-water, where it would be dried and loaded on bulk-carriers for transport to Japanese steel mills.

Although the study is still very much in the preliminary stage, the fact that it is even being considered represents a triumph for the pipe line builders and designers who have been predicting for some years now that pipelining is the transport of the future.

Transporting solids by pipe line is not exactly new since some commodities, notably coal, have been successfully moved by pipe for relatively short distances for a number of years.

However, nothing of the scope of Premier's project has ever been thoroughly investigated and if it could be done it would revolutionize the mining industry of western Canada, particularly B.C., where transportation costs are the main drawback to developing a number of good mineral deposits.

Success of the federal government's attempt to reduce long-term interest rates can be seen from the announcement by Works Minister Walker that NHA loan rates are being reduced immediately from 6% to 5% per cent.

The decrease is going to be at Toronto Lake Duault sustained a 15 cent gain to $7.05 with volume of 144,000 shares to lead speculatives higher. Mount Wright gained four cents to a $1.72 while Murray Mining and New Mylmaque each lost two cents, all in heavy trading.

AT MONTREAL prices were fractionally higher in moderately active trading on the stock exchange today.

AT LONDON the stock market was generally quiet today with interest highly selective and no definite trends.

Canadian banking issues were fractionally lower in line with other Canadian stocks but gains predominated in U.S. issues.

Industrials generally were uncertain. Motors were quiet.

AT VANCOUVER the market was active with prices higher. Western Mines moved 50,000 shares ranging in price from 45 1/2 to 48. Charter traded at $1.15. United Oils went at $1.38. Caribou moved at $1.05. Friday Mines was at $1.35. Grandeur traded up to $3.25. Skena went at $2.50. Trans-Canada Pipe sold at $25.50, and Trans Mountain Pipe at $15.

The four-point agenda dealt with: 1. The commission's research on king crab resources. 2. Application of studies made by the commission in determining whether there is need to move the North Pacific fishery agreement boundary beyond the 175-degree west longitude line. Under the agreement, Japan has agreed not to fish east of this boundary.

3. Whether Japan should continue to refrain from fishing American stocked halibut and salmon and British Columbia stocked herring.

4. Financial and administrative matters of the commission.

George R. Clark, deputy minister of fisheries, heads the Canadian group.

President W.C. Gibson said no outside financing would be needed for the $200,000 expansion.

The mill will be closed down from the middle of this month to the end of the year for the reconstruction which is expected to substantially reduce cost of operations.

Although Mr. Gibson's announcement concerning the additional ore reserves dealt mining industry sources are predicting that the grade of the new ore is considerably higher than what has been mined so far.

Report in the mining industry says that Gradue Mines, Ltd., is planning an immediate program at its Portland Canal property involving a new, lower level access tunnel into the southerly extension of the ore strike.

Tenders are being called. It is reported, for a 9,000-ft tunnel under the Leduc Glacier and general preparations are being made for extensive work on the property, continuing through the winter months.

Start-up date for the first kiln of Holdfast Natural Resources, Ltd.'s, pozzolan operation on Salt Spring Island has been set for November 14.

About $100,000 worth of equipment for the plant was unloaded on Salt Spring last week and is being installed under the supervision of Don Morrison.

He wouldn't, however, predict how much, if any, the lower interest rates would stimulate the building industry.

Giant Mascot Mines, Ltd., has announced it will boost capacity of its Hope mill from 900 to 1,200 tons daily as a result of increase in its nickel-copper are reserves by about 650,000 tons.

Mr. Walker hinted that the government would be happy to see the chartered banks re-enter the mortgage field since, as he pointed out, the new rate is only a maximum and there is nothing to prevent the banks from lending money at their maximum 6 per cent.

However, one local banker is rather doubtful that banks are very anxious to get back into mortgages.

He pointed out that as of July 31, Canadian banks were already holding some 958 million worth of NHA mortgages.

"That's an awful lot of capital for the banks to have tied up," he pointed out. "Still, with money easier, there is the possibility that the banks might go back into the mortgage field in a small way."

He also noted that back through the years the prime cause of bank failures in Canada and the United States has always been too great involvement in mortgages.

Mr. Walker predicted total housing starts for this year would reach 123,000 compared with 108,558.

He wouldn't, however, predict how much, if any, the lower interest rates would stimulate the building industry.

In an Age of Specialists, the RCAF Keeps Pace

assistance to merchant shipping to investigating reports of unidentified submarines off our coast. Sequence of photos shows some of the crew members at their jobs high in the sky during a recent large-scale anti-submarine exercise by the 407 Maritime Patrol Squadron. In photo next to the

... HERE ... AND THERE

A reader complains that his wife always insists on choosing his clothes. "It's about time women were banned from men's tailoring shops," says this sturdy masculinist. I mentioned this to several other men, and one said: "I'm all for letting them get on with it. Being stock size, I don't need to be measured for clothes. I just send my wife for them."

What next? Prophetic words from our files of 48 years ago: "Vancouver city council discussed a resolution calling for the setting aside of $500,000 each year from now until 1919 for the purchase of the B.C. Electric by the city."

"Why are they always pulling down old houses?" asked 71-year-old William F. Bruskey.

We were standing outside a sturdy red brick house at 2543 Government, near the Roundabout. It is being demolished to make way for a new car lot and the bricks are being sold to the public.

Mr. Bruskey, I discovered, has a special interest in the old place.

"I helped build that house more than 50 years ago," he said. "I was working for old Billy Worthington, who put some fine houses in this district."

"Why pull down a building like this when it's sound as a bell?" he asked sadly.

The reason seems to be that sites are now more valuable than houses.

New Honor for Victoria: I hear that Len Woodhouse will become supreme councillor for North America of the United Commercial Travellers when this fraternal insurance organization meets in Cincinnati next July.

He is now supreme junior councillor.

Kenneth King, manager of the Hotel Douglas, is conductor of Victoria Council 434, with William Gornall as senior councillor.

The Travellers' special charity is retarded children.

Just back from England, Victor Beale of 2122 Richmond witnessed an unusual anniversary at Blackheath, near London. Seems they put on a special game to celebrate the 100th birthday of field hockey—believed to be the father of Canadian ice hockey.

It was played in the style of 1861 when hockey was a wild and woolly affair. The players wore the garb of those days—cloth caps, stockings, shorts and shirts—and the sticks were bits of oak bent by steam.

"There were no silly restrictions such as not being able to raise the stick above the shoulder," says Mr. Beale, "and if an opponent got between you and the ball, that was his lookout."

THEY'LL FIRE BOTH BARRELS

The official opposition will have a new double-barrelled name at the next session of the B.C. legislature which opens Jan. 25.

The 16 MLAs under Opposition Leader Robert Strachan will perpetuate the last trace of the CCF in this province.

Officially the CCF is dead, replaced by the New Democratic Party.

But the MLAs want to be known as CCF-NDP.

The old CCF caucus decided that as its members were elected in 1960 under the CCF banner, they should retain the name until the next election.

Oak Bay Bids For Extended Marina Lease

Oak Bay will ask the B.C. cabinet for a special concession allowing a lease beyond the 20-year limit for its proposed new marina development at Turkey Head.

Because of this latest turn in boathouse negotiations it is unlikely ratepayers will have the opportunity to vote on a proposed marina at this year's election, Dec. 7.

Parks committee chairman Coun. Gordon Elworthy said, "It is too important to everybody, not only Oak Bay. The boathouse is going to be with us for a long time. Council does not want to rush on this."

Council wishes to demolish the existing 50-year-old Oak Bay Boathouse, replacing it with a modern marine facility.

CLOSED MEETING

Decision to request a longer lease was made at a closed meeting of council Monday night when the parks committee made its first report to council on talks it has had with two would-be developers.

Coun. Elworthy said he hoped the plan council chooses would be presented for ratepayers' approval early in the new year.

Three proposals have been made to the parks committee, ranging from a $60,000 scheme to one costing more than $1,000,000.

LOW MAN OUT

The municipal engineer had estimated roughly that a new development would cost at least $220,000, which apparently eliminates the lowest bid.

All proposals were to take place over a period of three to five years. One is based on alternative leases of 20 and 30 years, and the most expensive plan counts on a 60-year lease.

"We feel we have an isolated situation in Oak Bay," Coun. Elworthy explained on the matter of asking for a longer lease.

"As soon as we have that answer we will know how to proceed. But to have it answered by the 27th of this month (nomination day) would be somewhat rushed."

Motorist Absolved In Traffic Fatality

A coroner's jury today brought in a verdict of accidental death in the fatal injury to a Victoria man Saturday night.

Absolved of blame in the accident was the driver of the car, William Corbett, HMCS New Glasgow, which struck Charles Fletcher Marshall, Lincoln Hotel, while he was crossing Esquimalt Road in the 800 block.

The jury took less than 15 minutes to bring in its decision.

Dr. Garth Walther, St. Joseph's Hospital, said that death was caused by multiple traumatic injuries leading to fatal haemorrhaging.

Witnesses to the accident, which occurred at 10 p.m. Saturday night, said that Mr. Marshall was staggering across the road with his head down when he was hit.

He had fallen down previously at the curb and a driver had stopped and helped him to his feet.

The accident victim then walked a little further along the street and tried to cross Esquimalt Road 173 feet east of the crosswalk.

He was hit when he had just passed the centre line.

Despite the fact the weather was dry and clear, witnesses said the victim was wearing dark clothes, and the lighting in the area was not too good.

Five Services to Honor War Dead

Remembrance Day services will be held throughout Greater Victoria next Saturday, Nov. 11.

Government, civic and church officials, with veterans of two world wars and the Korean War, will march to the Cenotaph in front of the Legislative Buildings for a service at 11 a.m.

The service will be conducted by Brig. the Ven. J. W. Forth, former chaplain-general to the Canadian armed forces.

Afterwards there will be a march past the Empress Hotel with Rear Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, taking the salute.

PIONEER SQUARE

Following the ceremony at the Cenotaph, members of the regiment, the cadet corps and the association will proceed to Pioneer Square, next to Christ Church Cathedral, where a memorial service will be held in memory of those of the regiment who did not return.

Esquimalt's remembrance service in Memorial Park, opposite the Municipal Hall, will also be held at 11 a.m. Esquimalt Legion Boys' Pipe Band and Victoria Musicians' Band will take part and Capt. Erik Reviem, RCN, will take the salute in a march past.

Ceremonies in Saanich and Oak Bay will both be held at 3 p.m.

Choice Asked In Plebiscite

Ald. A. W. Toone today said city voters should have a choice of City Hall proposals on their ballots Dec. 14.

Council is expected Thursday to formally order a plebiscite on proposed acquisition of the B.C. Hydro building for $660,000 as a new City Hall.

Ald. Toone said he feels that the ballot should also contain a question on whether the people would prefer construction of an entirely new City Hall building on Blanshard opposite the new Law Courts building.

He said the Hydro building probably would cost a total of $800,000 when renovations were added and it "still would not be a tailor-made building."

A new City Hall building probably would cost about $1,500,000, he estimated.

"I'm not saying the Hydro building would not make a good City Hall but I do say that the people should have a choice to vote for."

Herbert fired at the brush where he had last seen the deer. The shot felled John Hamer.

"I was out Friday night with my brother for an hour and a half and I had only two shots at the deer," Herbert explained.

The two men had seen plenty of deer signs and this particular buck in the area about three miles west of Happy Valley Road near Baxter.

"LONG SHOT"

On Sunday Herbert Hamer went out with friends.

"I had quite a long shot at it. I had five more shots at it and I went back on Monday feeling sure I would have a good chance at it on a weekday when the woods would not be crowded."

Apparently John Hamer had the same idea.

His wife left their home early to go to work. John went hunting apparently without telling anyone else.

Herbert, meanwhile, went into the brush early, "by 7 a.m.," Roy Best said.

THICK BRUSH

"Herb and I met after spooking a deer. We were both going through thick brush after him and we were to meet at the top of a hill."

"We were about 50 feet apart. He got to the hill before me and I was about 10 feet from the cleared rock and about 40 feet from Herb."

"He yelled to see if anyone was down in the thick brush to make sure it wasn't another hunter."

"Then I heard a shot and a

'I Fired, Then I Heard Groans'

Hunter Tells How He Killed Brother

A Langford hunter whose rifle shot killed his brother in an accident Monday told today how he tried three times to fell a deer he and his brother spotted last week.

Unknown to each other, both men apparently stalked the same deer in the hours leading up to the late forenoon shooting in almost perpendicular terrain northwest of Colwood.

John Albert Hamer, 36, was dead when landed at Royal Jubilee Hospital just before 2 p.m. by a V.I. Helicopter Ltd. craft.

MOUTH-TO-MOUTH

His brother Herbert, 32, had kept him alive for 2½ hours on a mountainside near Happy Valley, breathing mouth-to-mouth.

Colwood RCMP said there had been no decision on whether a charge would be laid.

Coroner Dr. J. H. Moore said he was still collecting evidence, but thought that an inquest would be ordered.

He has consulted the attorney-general's department.

IN CHEST

John Hamer died as a result of a 30-30 bullet wound in the right chest.

He had been hunting alone and was in a patch of brush into which a buck deer stalked by a separate hunting party—Herbert Hamer, 3337 Brownling; Bill Arthur and Roy Best, both of 3817 Saul—had run as the three-man party approached.

Herbert fired at the brush where he had last seen the deer. The shot felled John Hamer.

"I was out Friday night with my brother for an hour and a half and I had only two shots at the deer," Herbert explained.

The two men had seen plenty of deer signs and this particular buck in the area about three miles west of Happy Valley Road near Baxter.

EIGHT MINUTES

It was an eight-minute flight to hospital.

"Everyone there was very good. They didn't waste any time and I appreciate what they did," Herbert said.

John Hamer was born in England, lived on the Prairies and for more than 10 years was a resident of the Victoria area.

He leaves the widow, Jean, at home, 2849 Knotty Pine; a son, Johnny, Surrey, B.C.; his mother, Mrs. Lily Hamer, Sooke; brothers Herbert and Kenneth, Calgary; and a sister, Mrs. H. (Ethel) Thompson, Victoria.

Funeral service will be Thursday at 2 p.m. in Sands Colwood Chapel, with Rev. Gordon F. Dangerfield officiating.

garbled noise. I thought he'd shot a bear.

"Herb got there ahead of me and was in a terrible state. He didn't recognize his brother until I got there. He (John) was moaning and I took off for help."

Best was joined by Arthur and both men raced down the mountainside to Herbert's car on a logging road at the foot of which was a farmhouse with a telephone.

Herbert said he and Best went after the buck.

"I'd seen the same buck about 10 a.m. and Roy and I went into the brush after him. He (the deer) ran down the mountain."

"I holloed at Roy and Bill, they both answered and I shot. Bill was across the mountain. Roy in the bush to my lower right. It was right at the tree line."

"I could hear Roy back in the bushes. The deer had just jumped into the bush. I fired. Then I heard the groan."

PACKED LITTER

The time was 11.05. By 11.15 the RCMP were notified and in about half an hour were at the scene with a Langford ambulance crew, who packed their litter through the uphill brush from the logging trail.

Cpl. Robert Rogers called for a helicopter via radio after consulting with the ambulance men, who felt it would be too difficult and time-consuming to pack the wounded hunter overland.

The copter arrived at about 1.30 p.m., paused two minutes to allow the litter to be strapped to its undercarriage, and pilot Robert Taylor took off again without stopping the rotors.

Dread Disease Hits Island Chicken Flock

Vancouver Island's $3,000,000 poultry industry was warned today to take steps to prevent the spread of an outbreak of Newcastle disease which has already affected a flock of 2,700 birds and threatens many others.

Harry Pope, B.C. poultry commissioner, said the outbreak of the dreaded disease is not serious, but much damage could be prevented if poultry raisers, who have not yet vaccinated their birds, do so immediately.

(The disease kills young chicks and stops older hens from laying.)

"SPOTTY"

It broke out six months ago, Mr. Pope said, and has been spotty.

He said there is no connection between the disease and a two-cent increase on a dozen eggs this week. It has not affected egg production to any great extent.

He said egg prices have gone up because flocks were drastically cut down six months ago when birds were over-producing and prices low.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me the origin of the popular song "The Green Hills of Tyrol"?

A. "The Green Hills of Tyrol," now popularized as a song entitled "The Scottish Soldier," was originally a piece of pipe music. It is still played in highland regiments as a retreat.

Q. What makes shoe and floor polish work? J.T.P.

A. Most polishes are made from a mixture of some kind of wax—beeswax, paraffin wax, or palm wax—and a liquid or solvent for easy application. When the polish is allowed to dry, the liquid evaporates, leaving a hard coating of wax which polishes easily when rubbed.

Anybody wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem alone to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

FINAL BULLETINS

Slayer Pleads Guilty, Gets Life Term

QUEBEC (CP)—Lucien Richard, 42, of Quebec, today was sentenced to life imprisonment after pleading guilty to a charge of non-capital murder in the slaying of Jeanne Gamelin-Bouchard a year ago.

Under new federal law dividing murder charges into two categories—capital and non-capital—a plea of guilty may be accepted in a non-capital case because the accused does not face execution.

50 Viet Nam Rebels Killed in Battle

SAIGON (AP)—The South Viet Nam government claimed today 50 Communist rebels were killed and 20 others captured in a battle in Red-infested Phuoc Thanh Province, 25 miles northwest of Saigon.

An announcement said the rebels were encircled in one of the province's jungle areas, strafed by two air force fighters and cut down as they tried to flee.

Satellite Goes Wrong—No Recovery

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—Trouble in the 25-foot-long Discoverer XXXIV satellite as it whizzed around the world at 18,000 miles an hour today doomed efforts to recover an instrument capsule from it, the air force announced.

A terse announcement said only that the attempted recovery would not take place because of "an on-orbit malfunction in the satellite."

Airline Pilots Set Strike Friday

CHICAGO (AP)—The Air Line Pilots' Association called a strike today against Pan-American World Airways to begin at midnight Friday.

C. N. Sayen, ALPA president, said 1,400 pilots employed by the airline would leave their jobs in a contract dispute that has been going on for 17 months.

W. Germany Drops Charge Against Slav

MUNICH (AP)—Charges of murdering Nazi soldiers in occupied Yugoslavia were dropped today against former partisan Lazo Vracaric. The West German government apologized for his arrest on a 1941 warrant.

Officials returned Vracaric's Yugoslav passport and told him the case against him has been wiped off the books. His arrest here last Tuesday while on a business trip had brought a wave of protests from officials and veterans' groups abroad, particularly from countries that were occupied by the Nazis.

Vracaric, 44, was released from jail Monday night. He refused to appear in person today, contending his wartime activities were no concern of German justice, and sent two lawyers in his stead.

The Nazi arrest order, which local officials in Konstanz dug up, charged that Vracaric and other partisans were involved in the 1941 ambush slaying of two German soldiers. Legal officials said investigation of the case proved Vracaric could not be charged with murder since he was a soldier in a regular army.

Los Angeles Fires Rage; Damage Hits $15 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two disastrous brush fires threatened today to join and burn oceanward on a 10-mile front that officials said would threaten a whole new community—fashionable Pacific Palisades.

The major multi-million-dollar blaze—the worst in southern California history—already had destroyed more than 200 costly homes including those of several members of the movie colony.

Former vice-president Richard Nixon was among those who fled Monday.

A spokesman said the total value of ruined or damaged real estate alone could exceed $15,000,000.

SOVIET FOUNDER IGNORES SNUBS

Voroshilov Defies Brass

(Times News Services)
MOSCOW—Marshal Klement Voroshilov, disgraced former president of the Soviet Union, broke away from a security guard tonight and made his way to the head table at a reception marking the anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution.

Voroshilov, one of the founders of the Communist state in Russia, argued his way past security men barring the entrance to the head tables after being turned away earlier today from the Lenin mausoleum reviewing stand for the parade celebrating the anniversary.

The white-haired 80-year-old marshal, with two Orders of Lenin on a lapel of his double-breasted blue suit, brushed aside an embarrassed aide de camp who had apparently been appointed to keep an eye on him at the Kremlin reception.

The aide de camp, a young major, pursued the former president but failed to catch him before he reached Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan at the head table.

He then grabbed a glass of wine from a passing waiter and clinked glasses with Mikoyan and the Red Chinese ambassador.

Other members of the Communist party presidium also accepted toasts from the marshal.

Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov came up to exchange a few words with him but Premier Khrushchev was some distance away talking with other guests.

After a brief period in the area reserved for top guests, the young army major took Voroshilov firmly by the elbow and steered him out past the guards.

The former president then took his place among the ordinary guests at the reception.

The marshal, who has been among those taking the salute from atop the tomb every year since the parades began, was denounced at the recent 22nd congress of the Soviet Communist party as a Stalinist.

This fire raged out of control today like an ugly, flaming crown in the Hollywood Hills-Santa Monica Mountains range above swank Bel-Air and Brentwood.

Eating through Topanga Canyon's explosively dry brush during the night, a companion fire that also broke out Monday moved to within slightly more than a mile of the Bel-Air fire.

The Topanga fire had raged through 4,000 acres, the Bel-Air through 3,200. Only Rustic Canyon, which has a few expensive homes, separated the two.

Officials said the fires probably will join, forming a 10-mile flaming front. If they continue burning southward, all of heavily populated Pacific Palisades, near the ocean, would be in danger. The two fires already were only three or four miles from that community.

"We are making full preparations for the worst," said Keith Klinger, county fire chief.

Men and equipment in large numbers moved into the southern end of the Topanga Canyon holocaust. Twenty-four bombers, 12 for each fire, were loaded for daylight bombing of the flames with a fire-retarding borate solution.

Minor injuries to 10 firemen in the Bel-Air fire were reported.

More than 2,000 persons had been evacuated. More than 200 homes have been destroyed. (AP Wirephoto.)

Adenauer Wins Slim Majority

BONN (Reuters)—Konrad Adenauer was re-elected today to a fourth term as chancellor by the West German Bundestag (lower house).

The 85-year-old statesman received 258 votes—eight more than necessary for an absolute majority in the 499-member house.

There were 206 votes against Adenauer—15 more votes than the total held by the Social Democrats, the only opposition party to the new coalition government of Adenauer's Christian Democrats and the minority Free Democrats.

Twenty-six members abstained. A further nine members of all three parties were absent.

Asked by Speaker Eugen Gerstenmaier whether he accepted the chancellorship, Adenauer replied in a firm voice: "I accept the vote."

Adenauer's re-election came after six weeks' negotiations with the Free Democrats made necessary by his party's loss of its long-held majority in the Bundestag in the Sept. 17 elections.

The Christian Democrats won 242 seats compared with 190 by the Social Democrats. The Free Democrats picked up 67 and held the balance of power.

Earlier today Adenauer smoothed out wrinkles in the coalition agreement despite a resignation threat from his heir-apparent, Economic Minister Ludwig Erhard.

Cabinet Decides On Wednesday

ACCRA (Reuters)—Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys, reported by reliable sources to be ready to recommend that Queen Elizabeth go ahead with her projected 11-day visit to internally troubled Ghana Thursday, left by plane today for London.

The British minister had made a pre-royal visit inspection tour here. Sandys and President Kwame Nkrumah covered the route planned for the Queen.

They also inspected a statue of Nkrumah damaged in a weekend bomb blast.

Nkrumah today showed Sandys a life-size statue of the Ghana president, the feet of which were damaged in a bomb blast Saturday, and commented:

"It's a wonder it did not fall over."

(In London, meanwhile, Prime Minister Macmillan announced he will call his cabinet into session Wednesday to decide whether the Queen should go ahead with her visit.

(Aides said Macmillan will drive to Buckingham Palace after the cabinet meeting to give his final advice to the Queen.

(The decision will be announced to the Commons later in the day.)

Sandys, sent here Monday to study conditions and report to the British government, replied: "I am glad you have taken the trouble to show me this."

Large crowds cheered wildly as Nkrumah and the Briton, in an open car flanked by police outriders, made a two-hour tour of the Queen's route.

TARGETS

(Some London newspapers commented that Sandys and Nkrumah, in touring Accra were deliberately setting themselves up as "targets for assassins."

(The influential Guardian said member countries of the Commonwealth should decide whether the Queen carries out the tour.

(The Guardian points out that the Queen heads a Commonwealth of Nations.)

'3 Million Might Be Killed'

WASHINGTON (CP)—A nuclear attack launched against Canada at night with only 15 minutes warning might kill or injure about one-half the major Canadian urban population, the United States Association of Military Surgeons was told today.

LA Col. A. C. Hardman, chief of Canada's emergency health services, based his estimate on a potential target in Canada of 12 major cities containing about 7,100,000 people.

Of these, under the current state of civilian preparedness, "we can expect between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 to be killed and some 1,250,000 to be injured with a high proportion of these trapped in rubble."

Urging a strong bond of partnership between civilian and military agencies for medical care in the event of an emergency, Hardman suggested "with the present state of international tension, the possibility of global war is very real."

Fortunately for Canada, he said, "our government tends to select the remote and barren wastes for the location of the majority of their military bases. Consequently the bulk of our regular forces would be expected to survive as an intact organization."

Red Unity Toasted By Chinese

PEKING (Reuters)—Premier Chou En-lai and other Communist Chinese leaders tonight joined Soviet Ambassador S. V. Chernomorenko in toasts to the unity of the Communist camp and Sino-Russian friendship.

The toasts were offered at a reception marking the Soviet Revolution anniversary given by Chervonenko, who Monday night was received in stony silence by Chinese officials when he attacked Stalinism and Albanian Communists. Chinese and Soviet officials and foreign diplomats—including Albanians—clinked glasses during the two-hour reception.

Earlier, newspapers marked the anniversary by printing appeals for unity of the whole Communist camp, including Albania. The appeals were in messages and editorials of Peking newspapers.

The messages from Chinese leaders and an article reproduced from the People's Daily praised the advances made by the Soviet Union since the revolution, paid tribute to its leadership in the Communist camp, and stressed the need to maintain unity.

The newspapers also reported Monday night's meeting here at which Chinese leaders and Communist party officials sat silent, neither smiling nor applauding, as Soviet Ambassador S. V. Chervonenko repeated the attacks made at last month's Moscow party congress by Soviet Premier Khrushchev on the cult of personality, Stalinism and the Albanian Communist party leaders.

RCMP Arson Arrests Mounting

(Compiled From CP)

NELSON — The widening RCMP search for bombers and arsonists in southeast British Columbia netted nine more arrests in the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor stronghold of Krestova Monday.

Total arrests made in the last five days now number 12, all suspects being charged either with arson or with unlawful possession of dynamite in relation to terrorist activities which have plagued West Kootenay district this year.

Seven men appeared in magistrate's court Monday charged with attempted arson. Two young men appeared in city court charged with unlawful possession of explosives.

Nelson RCMP questioned three teenage girls in connection with a bomb found in the Trail post office and an explosion in a Trail department store last spring.

A fourth girl is reported to have given a statement to Trail RCMP concerning the Trail bombs.

Among the suspects appearing before Stendary Magistrate, William Evans Monday was Bill F. Babakoff, a member of the Fraternal Council of Reformed Doukhobors—the executive body of the Freedom sect.

To handle the large influx of prisoners, the RCMP has been forced to employ the old provincial jail quarters, now the city police station.

Police said more arrests are expected, as several of the recent suspects have made detailed confessions of their participation in the night time deeds.

Police are also wary of a repeat of 1950, when some 400 Sons of Freedom confessed, some falsely, to terrorist activities. At that time there were nude demonstrations throughout the area.

FLUORIDATION

PENTICTON — The council Monday decided to hold a fluoridation plebiscite. The action was taken after delegations from the area medical association, dental society and health unit called for addition of fluorides to the city water supply. The vote will be held in December.

TEACHERS' SALARIES

VANCOUVER — Agreement on teachers' salaries has been reached at 36 British Columbia schools. Twenty-six other teacher groups will begin negotiations with their school boards on their salaries.

WINS TROPHY

VERNON — The city Monday won the Okanagan United Appeal Trophy in its first year of competition by exceeding its $30,000-a-year goal. Kelowna and district was 15 per cent short of its $30,350 target and Penticton had about $19,500 collected toward its quota of $25,000.

SEEK DRIVER

VERNON — RCMP are seeking the driver of a car that hit a 61-year-old woman on a downtown street Friday night and left her unconscious. Mrs. Ida Tronson was still unconscious with a fractured skull and other injuries Monday.

PICKETING CURBED

VANCOUVER — A partial injunction limiting picketing activities of the striking Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union (CLC) in its fight with Taylor, Pearson & Carson (B.C.), Ltd., was granted in the British Columbia Supreme Court Monday.

Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes rejected the company's application to have all picketing halted.

ADMITS HE WAS FOOL

VANCOUVER — A would-be playboy was given a chance to straighten out his life Monday after admitting that he was a fool.

Wayne Arnold, 21, called a smart Alec by his lawyer, was fined $250 for making a gift of two unregistered firearms to two strangers.

Arnold, who inherited $100,000 in June, said in an interview later that he had spent almost $10,000 already.

"I tried to be a rich playboy but ended up a fool," he said.

BATTLE AGAINST SMOG MAN'S BIGGEST JOB?

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Stopping the spread of smog may be mankind's most important task in the 20th century, says Walter Orr Roberts, director of the new United States national center for atmospheric research being built near Boulder, Colo.

"In the years not too far ahead, we may exercise wilful control of genetic makeup," Roberts told the 31st international meeting of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists Monday.

"We may be able to stamp out disease, or to create it—to make man a better adapted creature of his environment, or a robot."

But, Roberts said, it is a serious question whether the world's population, expected to double by the year 2000, will have enough water to drink or air to breathe.

"If we cannot find a way to control smog," he added, "it may well be a limit on the expansion of civilization."

About 1,200 are attending the conference, which continues through Thursday.

TWO ISLANDERS

14 Young Farmers Off to Big Fair

A party of 14 young farm people, two of them from Vancouver Island, left Victoria today to represent B.C. at a national 4-H Club Week opening at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto Saturday.

Vancouver Island delegates are Jacquelyn Rosman, 18,

Saanichton, and Rose Couling, Coombs, formerly of Sooke. They will see the world's largest agricultural show, "the Royal," during their stay in Toronto, and later meet federal government leaders in Ottawa.

In Toronto, they will stay at the Royal York Hotel, headquarters for the 13th National 4-H Club Week. There a total 140 farm boys and girls from Canada's 10 provinces will hold business sessions and discuss farm and agricultural problems.

The theme of the meeting is "4-H and self-realization."

MEET DIF

On Thursday, Nov. 16, the delegates will arrive in Ottawa and will be received at Rideau Hall by Governor-General Vanier and Mrs. Vanier. Later they will meet Prime Minister Diefenbaker and be guests at a federal department of agriculture dinner at Chateau Laurier.

The trip to Toronto and Ottawa is free for delegates. They are the guests of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs, the national executive of the 70,000-member organization.

The trip is the most coveted award the council can bestow. It goes to members who have shown the highest proficiency and leadership in the 4-H club movement.

WALL DAMAGED

One bomb in Accra exploded at the Kwame Nkrumah Circle, named after Ghana's president, and slightly damaged a wall.

Four hours earlier a bomb went off in a bush near the national lotteries building and police reported that several unexploded time bombs were found nearby.

A full-scale manhunt was launched for the perpetrators and massive security measures have been stepped up for the Royal visit.

The measures have been taken as adequate by British officials here, most of whom believe there is no special danger in the visit despite the three explosions.

Scottish to Parade

PORT ALBERNI — The pipes and drums of the Canadian Scottish Regiment will participate in the Nov. 11 Remembrance Day service at Port Alberni.

Lt. Col. P. F. Ramsay, officer commanding, accompanied by Capt. R. H. McCrimmon and Capt. Jim Sutherland, will place a wreath on the war memorial.

Revolt Ends In Ecuador

QUITO, Ecuador (CP) — A military uprising by an army engineers regiment objecting to the arrest of leftist Vice-President Carlos Julio Arseno was beaten down by loyal government troops today in a seven-hour battle in the southern part of Quito.

Arseno, who denounced President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra for violating the constitution, and nine legislators were arrested after bloody fighting against the government resulted in 11 persons killed and 14 injured.

VOROSHILOV

Voroshilov was taken to a spot near the tomb where a middle-aged woman in a white uniform was selling ice cream. One of the greenthroated men stayed with him as he watched the parade from there.

As soon as Voroshilov was believed disposed of, Khrushchev and the other members of the presidium mounted to the top of the tomb to take the salute.

The Soviet defence minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, made the keynote speech in which he boasted as usual that the Soviet Union now has weapons "powerful enough to smash any aggressor."
